EVERETT, April 14.—Fire today destroyed the Conard brush factory at Tilton and West streets, and spread to a dozen dwellings in the vicinity. Fanned by a strong west wind, the flames threatened to sweep through a large district.

Two Hundred Families

Two hundred families hastily removed their household goods. Flying embers were constantly settling fire to roofs. The district is thickly settled, largely with two and three-family houses. Help was sent from the fire departments of Boston, Lynn and other cities.

The burning area was bounded by Tilton and Cross streets, the Reverse beach boulevard and the marsh land along the Malden river.

ENDORSES LEGION DRIVE

Trades and Labor Council
Behind American Legion
Membership Raid

Frank Good of Cambridge
Will Address Legion Meeting This Evening

Trades and labor unionists are solidly behind the membership raid being conducted by the American Legion which ends on April 15. A special meeting of all legionnaires has been called for tonight and coffee and doughnuts will be served to all who help form the mess line. Commander Collin C. Macdonald wants to hear further reports from the various membership team captains and enthusiasm is expected to reach great heights.

The principal speaker at tonight's meeting will be Frank Good of Cambridge, looked upon by many as the logical successor to Major General Clarence R. Edwards when the Daddy of the YD relinquishes his post as state commander. Commander Good, a Harvard graduate and practicing Boston attorney, is at present senior vice commander for the department of Massachusetts. He is a past commander of Cambridge Post and has been quite a figure at the various national conventions.

Mr. Good is prominent in K. of C. circles in Cambridge and is a pleasing and inspiring talker. For the membership raid now in progress he has been designated by National Commander John R. Quinn as regional director for New England. He spoke here on the occasion of the dedication of Kittredge Square and is a cousin of Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell of this city.

The endorsement of the Legion drive by the trades and labor unionists of Lowell, made through the Trades and Labor Council, follows:

April 12th, 1924.
To the War Veterans of Lowell:
The Lowell Trades and Labor Council in regular meeting assembled this evening, heartily endorses the American Legion's bid for members. The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion are working hard in hand to secure legislation that will be of great benefit to the workers of this country.

LOWELL, TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL,
JAMES D. BRENN, President.
PARKER F. MURPHY, Secretary.

DR. M. A. TIGHE BUYS NEW RESIDENCE

Reed, who was formerly in the grocery business here, and consists of ten rooms, complete in every modern detail, a garage and 8000 square feet of land. The house is one of the most attractive residences bordering on Fort Hill park and its beauty is greatly enhanced by the grounds, which are nicely arranged with shrubbery, trees and gardens.

Sale of Two-Tenement House

Agreements for the sale of a two-tenement house at 56-58 Robbins street, near Westford street, have been signed in the same office. The grantor is Delbert Moore and the property consists of two tenements of seven rooms each, thoroughly modern; a two-car garage and 7000 square feet of land. The sale price is in the vicinity of $14,000.

Slayer of Stanford White Seeks to Convince Jury That He is Sane and Should Be Set Free

MRS. HAYES PLEADS GUILTY

Admits Forging Endorsement of Chas. M. Schwab on $25,000 Note

Taking of Testimony on Forgery Charges Was to Have Begun Today

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mrs. Myrtle Bowman Hayes pleaded guilty today to forging the endorsement of Charles M. Schwab on a $25,000 note.

Mrs. Hayes was indicted for forgery. After several delays, the case came to trial last week, and the taking of testimony was to have begun this forenoon.

When the case was called, Assistant District Attorney Ward informed the court that counsel for Mrs. Hayes wished to offer a plea of guilty to attempted forgery. To continue the trial on a forgery charge, Mr. Ward said would require a long time.

The court accepted the plea, announcing that sentence would be imposed on April 25. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

Mrs. Hayes was indicted on May 9, 1923, on the specific charge of endorsing Mr. Schwab's name on the following note dated Jan. 5, 1923:

"Sixty days after date I promise to pay to ourselves $25,000, payable at Standard Concrete Steel Co., 201 West 23rd street, New York City."

"M. B. Hayes."

SUPERIOR COURT CASES

Defense Rests Case at Conclusion of Testimony by Plaintiffs

The peculiar condition of counsel for the defense resting his case upon the testimony of the plaintiff obtained in superior court here today before Judge Irwin in the double action of tort brought by Eugene A. Jasmun and Mary Dube of Lowell against Christopher Meany of Lawrence. The cases grew out of an automobile collision on the Lawrence boulevard near the First street car barns in October, 1920. The jury took the cases at 11.30 o'clock.

When Atty Dennis J. Murphy for the plaintiffs rested, Francis D. Harrigan of Boston, counsel for the defendant, stated to the court that he also rested without the presentation of any witnesses. He claimed that the plaintiffs had established no case against his client.

The plaintiffs each seek to recover $3000 as compensation for bodily injuries alleged to have been received in the accident and they charge the operator of the Meany car with negligence. The defense argued that the man driving the Meany machine at the time was not in Meany's employ and that, therefore, the defendant was not liable.

Just before the noon hour a jury was empaneled in the case of Elizabeth and Joseph M. Novaksky against the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co., an action of tort involving injuries alleged to have been sustained by Mrs. Novaksky as result of a fall upon a slippery car step on Jan. 26, 1923. Francis M. Qua for the plaintiffs and Trull, Wier & O'Donoghue for the railroad.

WOMAN OFFERS TO HIRE COUNSEL FOR MRS. TELL

NEW YORK, April 14.—A well-to-do New York woman whose name is withheld by the authorities, has offered funds to obtain competent counsel for Mrs. Johanna Tell, who confessed to the police last week that she had murdered Charles Blair at a lonely farmhouse in Killingworth, Conn.

This woman has never met Mrs. Tell and knows nothing about her except what she has read in the newspapers.

MRS. TELL OFFERS
MRS. TELL was brought into Merriam court this morning and her case was adjourned until April 21 to await the arrival of extradition papers from Connecticut.

She was taken back to the Bronx county jail.

BOY ALLOWED TO INTERVENE

Judge Permits Russell William Thaw, 13, to Intervene in Case

Thaw's Entrance Into Court
Impressive.—Dressed in Black—His Hair Gray

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Russell William Thaw, claimed to be the 13-year-old son of Harry K. Thaw, today was allowed to intervene through a guardian, in the Thaw insanity proceedings which began in common pleas court today.

Judge John Monaghan, in permitting the boy to intervene, announce he could do so not through his mother, but through a guardian. Thomas E. Cogan, of counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, was then appointed guardian during the proceedings.

While the formalities of drawing a jury were arranged, Evelyn Nesbit remained in the office of William A. Gray, her counsel, in a nearby office building. Mrs. Thaw, the 52-year-old mother of Thaw, was at a hotel waiting to be summoned if necessary.

Thaw's entrance into the small courtroom to face the jury was impressive. Dressed in black, his portly form and gray hair gave him the appearance of a well-to-do professional man.

When one prospective juror under examination said that without hearing the evidence he would pronounce him sane, Thaw nodded vigorously.

Petition for the trial by jury to test his present mental condition, was made by Thaw himself. His mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw of Pittsburgh, who is "committee of his person," joined in the petition and was here today to attend the trial.

Nearly 15 years ago, Thaw shot and killed Stanford White in New York. Since then, many legal battles have been fought in his behalf.

The jury was completed shortly after noon and the court took a recess. No women were accepted. The jurors range in age from 25 years to 78. Two are negroes and seven are married.

Denied Paternity
PITTSBURGH, April 14.—Harry K. Thaw, testifying in his suit for divorce against Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw here today swore that he was the father of William Russell Thaw, according to the records of the case filed by the master with Judge Josiah Cohen. The court granted Thaw a decree in divorce at that time. Evelyn did not contest the proceedings.

HOUSE IN STREET CUTS OFF TRAFFIC

All traffic in Gorham street was cut off at a point beyond the court house today due to moving operations involving a three story tenement block from its former location at Mann square to a point in Walnut street. This noon the house loomed like a mountain directly in the middle of Gorham street, its further progress impeded by the absence of a permit to take down a fence at the corner of Gorham and South streets, with Billieva cars starting from a point a hundred yards beyond.

RESUME WORK ON CURVE
The work incidental to the double-tracking of the curve at Button and Merrimack streets, partly completed last year and suspended with the advent of cold weather, was resumed this morning by a street department gang. Six cleaning gangs are also at work in the residential districts and two sweepers are out. The work of block paving in Chelmsford street and concreting the road surface at Billerica and Lawrence streets was also resumed today.

SENATE RENEWS WAR OVER SEC. MELLON AND INVESTIGATIONS

Sen. Watson After Conference With Pres. Coolidge and Sec. Mellon Says President Did Not Intend to Strike at Any of the Inquiries Except That Against Mellon

WASHINGTON, April 14.—With both sides newly fortified by entrenchments thrown up over the week-end, the senate today resumed its war over Secretary Mellon and the future of the congressional investigation program.

Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, chairman of the special committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, told his colleagues and democratic leaders privately after a conference with President Coolidge and Mr. Mellon that the president had not intended by his message last week, to strike at any of the senate inquiries except that directed against Mr. Mellon.

Administration opposition to the employment of Francis J. Heney as special counsel for the revenue bureau committee would be continued, Mr. Watson said, regardless of the fate of the democratic move to make that employment legal by a formal senate resolution.

When the interpretation placed on the president's message by Senator Watson was communicated to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, the latter declared the president ought in that case to "send a supplemental message" explaining his exact purpose.

Watson Not in Press Resolution
Senator Watson said after the White House conference he would not press immediately his resolution to end the revenue bureau inquiry and that he

PROCTER CONFERS WITH
SEN. THOS. WALSH

WASHINGTON, April 14.—William Cooper Procter of Cincinnati, and several others who had been subpoenaed by the senate oil committee, today conferred with Senator Walsh of Montana, the committee prosecutor.

Senator Walsh said he desired to ascertain just what these witnesses could tell the committee in reference to campaign contributions in 1920 and gossip of all deals at the Chicago convention.

The committee is to resume its public hearings tomorrow, but Senator Walsh has not decided whether he will call Mr. Procter, who largely financed the pre-convention campaign of Leonard Wood.

FOR PLEBISCITE OF FILIPINO PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Chairman Fairchild of the house insular committee, announced today that he soon would introduce a bill for a plebiscite of the Filipino people on independence at the end of 25 years and the election by the Filipinos of their governor pending such a plebiscite.

Drafting of the measure has been virtually completed but before its introduction, Chairman Fairchild will confer with President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks.

The bill will provide for a resident American commissioner in the Philippines with jurisdiction over questions affecting relations between the United States and the islands and over the islands debts.

THREE BRUSH FIRES CALL OUT FIREMEN

Three brush and grass fires assumed such threatening proportions in the city today as to call for the department aid and one necessitated the sounding of a bell alarm.

Engine 7 answered a telephone alarm at 9.45 a. m. for a grass fire in the rear of St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street. At 9.55 a brush fire at Moody and Seventh avenue called the fire department and at 12.25 a telephone alarm was followed by a bell alarm from Box 824 for a fast-spreading fire in the woods off Circuit avenue in South Lowell.

SUNDAY SERVICE
 Rev. W. Quay Rossello, pastor of First Baptist church, Malden, was the speaker at the Sunday Holy week service conducted at St. Anne's church today under the auspices of Lowell Federation of Churches. The visiting clergyman spoke for half an hour. There was congregational singing with William C. Heller at the organ. Pastor Rossello has an established reputation among the Baptist preachers of New England. He is at present minister of a parish that is one of the largest of the Protestant faith in the state.

USE BREAD
 When cooking cabbage or cauliflower, drop a piece of hard, stale bread into the water just as it starts to boil and let it stay in for about 10 minutes before you skim it out. Much of the objectionable odor will have been absorbed by it.

BABY TALK

When, upon that momentous occasion, one of the blam twins began to utter a few spattering words such as only parents can understand, Mr. Mann of Anytown jumped delightedly from his chair, crying: "That must be Emily!"

Mrs. Mann frowned at the inference. "Well, the girl always starts talking," he insisted.

"I thought you held that women have the last word."

"And the first one, too."

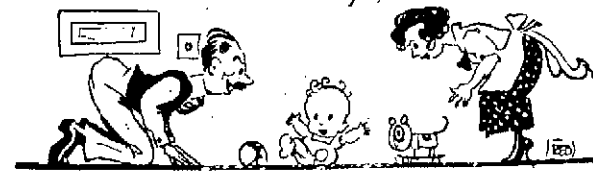

Which is scientifically correct, for a girl baby begins to talk about six months ahead of her brother.

"Well, mudder's lil snookums ookums, etc." babbled Mrs. Mann to the child.

And this is the point of the story: Why will parents, who seem to want their children to talk clearly and normally throughout their lives, start them off with incoherent baby talk chatter?

What really happens is this: The child has to learn two types of speech, normal and baby talk. The child's mind is confused. The child is actually given definite difficulties to surmount. The ear becomes accustomed to this chatter-patter, and the mind absorbs it. The task of teaching a child to talk well is a sufficiently serious one to merit careful consideration of the baby talk habit.

Talk to your child directly and simply. Cut out the baby talk.

Message Calls for Negotiation of Arbitration Agreement With N. Y. Typo Union

NEW YORK, April 14.—A letter calling for the negotiation of a definite arbitration agreement has been sent to Leon G. Rouse, president of Typographical union No. 6, by the Printers' League, the closed shop branch of the New York Employing Printers' Association. The agreement between the employers and the union expires Oct. 1, but there is no arrangement for a further adjustment of wages beyond that date. Arbitration agreements exist with all the other printers' unions but Typographical union No. 6.

The cases of magazines and other publications which have left New York because of "onerous conditions" imposed by the unions in the printing trade are cited in the communication which was sent on the suggestion of the National Publishers' association, representing an output of 1,000,000,000 copies of 250 magazines annually in the United States. Of these 100 are published in New York.

During the last three or four years, the letter said, important magazines had moved to Chicago, Camden, N. J., Albany, N. Y., Dayton, O., Greenwich, Conn., and other cities.

The lack of an agreement assuring arbitration of disputes, it was stated, was a matter of concern to members of the league and to buyers of printing.

INDICTMENTS QUASHED
John H. H. McNamee and Wm. R. Bailey of Prudential Trust Co. Discharged

BOSTON, April 14.—The quashing of indictments against John H. H. McNamee, former president of the Prudential Trust Co., of Boston and William R. Bailey, former treasurer, was ordered by Judge Sisk in the superior criminal court today. The men were charged with unlawful lending, investment, appropriation and conversion of the bank's funds. In his decision, Judge Sisk said that the statute under which the indictments were drawn was not intended to apply to officers of banking corporations. McNamee is a former mayor of Cambridge.

IRISH MUSICAL COMEDY

Singing and Dancing Comedy to be Presented Easter Monday Evening

"Echoes of Erin," the Irish singing and dancing comedy to be presented at the Auditorium on Easter Monday evening by the Mathew Temperance Institute under the joint direction of Mr. Andrew McCarthy and Mrs. Jeanie Conway, has many features which place it on a much higher plane than the general run of amateur musical productions. The high reputations of the directors as specialists in their respective lines, the splendid cast of principals and the excellent variety of the program itself are but a few of the interest-compelling items connected with the new Mathew offering.

After many weeks of rehearsal Mr. McCarthy has the large company of young men and women trained to the minute and prepared to render Ireland's beautiful melodies in capital style. Mrs. Conway has labored painstakingly with the dancers, and the program will be filled with shining examples of the success which has attended her efforts. No local production to date has contained so many skillfully trained dancing specialties.

A glance through the list of participants will convince the most critical that "Echoes of Erin" is indeed a show in a thousand. Among those who will perform are: Little May Conway, Andrew and Louise Carr, Miss Mary MacFarland, Miss Madeline McLaughlin, Miss Cecelia Daw, Miss Alice Dacey, Miss Anna and Margaret Sweeney, Nancy Sweeney, Willet, Raymond Kelly, Daniel Brennan, Daniel Sullivan, William Hinchley, Patrick Maguire, Walter Flynn, and a number of other clever singers and dancers who will complete a most delightful program. A number of the young people listed above are making their first appearance on the Auditorium stage, but they are possessed, one and all, of unusual talent, and will make their more experienced companions on the program look to their laurels.

LOWELL COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MEET

The monthly meeting of the Lowell Commercial Travelers was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, Saturday evening. Senator Councillor Chester Cornock presided and a large amount of routine business was transacted.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary of the organization was held in an adjoining room with Mrs. Chester Cornock in the chair and a grant of business was disposed of in record time.

Following the meetings, a real surprise was given the members by Harry Evans, chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Councilors Lehman and Pearson, when a real old time peacocks supper was served.

AT THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH

In the Immaculate Conception church last night, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," the famous musical masterpiece by Dubois, was sung impressively under the direction of Mr. James S. King. The church was filled to capacity when Rev. William J. Stanton, O.M.I., ascended the pulpit to deliver an eloquent sermon on the significance of the seven last words.

Mrs. Hugh Walker was at the organ and the soloists were as follows: Miss Florence McManus, Mrs. Mary Mooney, Miss Brouseau, James S. King, Joseph Egan, William L. Gookin, Thomas Kelly and Mr. Jacques. The evening's program opened with the singing of "The Palm" by Joseph M. Kelly. During the benediction, Mrs. Alice Lucy Belmont sang Schindler's "O Salutaris," while the entire choir rendered a beautiful "Tantum Ergo," composed by Bishop de Silva.

GETTING THINNER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done, and Done Right Quick, Too

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on bones of ailing folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste, and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and will also be a bona fide druggist (check the Drug Store, A. W. Day & Co., Fred Howard, or any live pharmacist anywhere.—Adv.)

ROD HAS GIFT THAT MEANS SUCCESS

BY JACK JUNGMEYER (N.E.A. Service Writer) HOLLYWOOD, April 14.—A young man who can break every log in the doctlog, defy his mother and kill Nita Naldi, as he did in "The Ten Commandments," yet retain the sympathy of the just and unjust in diverse audiences—such a young man, Rod La Rocque, is bound to be one of the screen's no-nonsense.

Rod has the gift. Why it should so long have been overlooked for important roles, especially since he has been on the stage since boyhood and in films for years, is one of those mysteries by which producers move, their wondrous to perform.

La Rocque has had a secure niche. His work has been sound. He has been a studio favorite. But with his performance as the bad brother in "The Ten Commandments," he suddenly forged into the vanguard of movie men most talked about. He has excited women's curiosity among women. Women critics and interviewers, who help set the style in leading men, are raving over him.

Rod takes it quite calmly with his he-man grin, which is neither fatuous nor cynical, as if to say, "Let's laugh this off together."

And that is his characteristic manner, off screen as well as on. A refusal to take himself too seriously, a dread that he might be considered over-sentimental, a proper self-esteem which never becomes pompous, a frank, generous, but disciplined ego.

La Rocque is one of Hollywood's most eligible young bachelors. But he's no boulevardier. No top. He doesn't parade himself at the cafes, at the beach, on the links. His name isn't bandied about with pseudo-romance. He lives unostentatiously with his mother and sister.

He knows the value of keeping something of one's vital nature always in reserve of being somewhat inscrutable. He has built his actor's technique upon that discretion. In "The Ten Commandments," he pointed out, much of his acting was with back to the camera so that he had left for the high dramatic spots sufficient emphasis.

"The full impact of your powers," he says, "should be reserved for the high occasions of life and play-acting, not frittered away. For ordinary occasions, keep something back." The perception, that, of the long distance runner rather than the sprinter. And Rod La Rocque's steady plugging has been paced by that philosophy. Undoubtedly, too, it has been responsible for slow appreciation of his full talents.

BY SISTER MARY HOT CROSS BUNS No Easter breakfast is complete without its hot cross buns. They can be all made up ready for the oven Saturday night and popped in and baked while the coffee is boiling. One and one-half cups scalded milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 yeast cake dissolved in 1/4 cup lukewarm water,

1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup currants, flour.

Mix milk, salt and sugar. When lukewarm add dissolved yeast cake and about two cups of flour. Beat well and let rise one hour. Add eggs well beaten, butter melted, cinnamon and flour to knead. Add currants in a knead until elastic. Put in a bowl, cover with a clean cloth and let stand over night. In the morning shape in small balls, cut a cross on the top of each with a knife and let rise to double their bulk. Put them in a warm place and they will rise quickly. Bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. When nearly done brush tops with a sirup of one tablespoon milk and two of sugar, boiled one minute. Dredge the cross with granulated sugar and finish baking. Serve warm.

STUFFED EGGS

Stuffed eggs would make a reasonable and unusual first course for the Easter dinner.

Four eggs, 2 tablespoons anchovy paste, 4 boned sardines, 4 tablespoons salt and pepper, few drops onion juice, few grains mustard.

Put eggs in a pan of cold water to more than cover them. Cover pan and bring to the boiling point. Remove to the side of the fire and let stand half an hour without boiling. Remove from hot water and plunge at once into cold water to cool.

When cool remove shells and cut each egg in half crosswise. Put yolks, anchovy paste, sardines, mustard and onion juice in a bowl and work smooth with a fork, adding lemon juice to make moist. Season with salt and pepper and beat in oil until thick and smooth. Fill whites with mixture, piling the yolk mixture up above the whites. Sprinkle with paprika and serve on a bed of shredded lettuce. One half egg should be served to each person.

HOT SPRINGS POLICE

CHIEF SHOT TO DEATH

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 14.—Oscar Sullivan, chief of police, was shot and killed last night and the police early today arrested Hubert Coates, known as an itinerant gambler, whose residence is divided between Kansas City, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff and other sections.

Chief Sullivan is said to have told Coates not to gamble or he would run him out of town. Few persons were on the street when the men met, and no eye witnesses have been found. Coates escaped in the motor car he was driving when he met the chief. He gave himself up a few hours after the shooting.

PRESIDENTIAL BOOM FOR GOVERNOR SMITH

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—Every indication that a presidential boom for Governor Smith will be launched at the democratic state convention here tomorrow, was given today in pre-convention gossip at the Capitol and other gathering places of the delegates.

Governor Smith will say nothing regarding either prospective boom or the talk which he is to give at the convention which is to be held in Harmanus Bleecker hall, Albany's largest auditorium. Whether the governor will make any reference to national affairs is problematical, although the general belief here is that he will confine himself to state issues.

Senate Renews War Over Sec. Mellon and Investigations

publican party, because it was in control of both houses of congress.

Wants to Stay with "Low Body"

There had been no "moans" over the political fall of Denby or Daugherty, said Senator Hefflin, but "in Mellon you touch the man who holds the strong-box—in a presidential election year."

He suggested it was strange Edges should be seeking re-election to such a "low standing" body.

"We hope to improve it," interjected Senator Edges.

"There will be an improvement in New Jersey," returned the Alabama senator. "New Jersey is due to go democratic this year."

The deduction that Senator Couzens had been read out of the party for opposing the Mellon plan was drawn by Senator Hefflin and by Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, who cited a recent suggestion by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, that former Secretary Denby return to Michigan and run for the senate.

MOMENTOUS QUESTIONS BEFORE U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Momentous questions confronted the organization republicans of the senate today when they went into party conference to discuss a course of action.

Their principal task was presented by the pending Japanese exclusion amendment to the senate immigration bill, on which an agreement was sought despite the feeling of leaders that whether they decided to support or oppose the proposal it would be rejected when it reached a vote.

In addition, however, they had before them the issues developing from President Coolidge's vigorous protest against the trend of the investigation of the internal revenue bureau, which has brought the question of all senate investigations of executive departments into sharp relief with an open breach between that chamber and the White House threatened.

Another problem that was pressing for consideration was the matter of precedence for soldier bonus or revenue legislation, and behind that lay the crowded condition of the calendar generally with farm relief and other important measures requiring attention.

The Japanese exclusion amendment, similar to provisions of the Johnson bill, passed Saturday by the house, went over for action until next week.

The organization republicans already have made clear their stand with President Coolidge on the investigation question and have begun a counter-offensive against the democratic-republican insurgent coalition which is assailing the executive's position. Senator Watson of Indiana, republican "wheelhorse" and chairman of the committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, has given notice that he intends to press for action on his resolution calling for discharge of the committee while democratic leaders are preparing to seek adoption of a resolution authorizing the committee to employ counsel at the senate's expense.

The senate finance committee has reported both the revenue and bonus bills, but had not decided over the week-end which to put forward.

Japanese Comment

TOKYO, April 14.—(By the Associated Press) Sunday newspaper extra reported Tokyo of passage by the house in Washington of the Johnson immigration bill. Official and other well informed circles, however, are awaiting the senate's action, which is expected here to be the real test.

The Kokumin, in an editorial headed "Nationalism," expressed belief that the exclusion clause would be defeated in the senate or vetoed by President Coolidge.

"Nevertheless," it continues, "it illustrates a most definite expression of American anti-Japanese feeling and makes the situation graver than ever before. We refuse to believe it is impossible for America to establish an efficient immigration policy without dishonoring the Japanese nation. We hope the United States will consider the situation and study the consequences of mean nationalism which the Johnson bill is likely to impose upon the American people."

TO DISCUSS BROCKTON INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

BROCKTON, April 14.—The Manufacturers' association today named as its committee to treat with the Joint Choe council and discuss the local industrial situation, Charles E. Moore, Percy G. Flint, William A. Doyle, W. A. Hoxan and Herbert L. Tinkham.

They will meet with the shoe workers' delegation Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

COAT LININGS

The linings to the newest coats are almost more interesting than the exteriors. Sometimes they are a combination of light and dark silk arranged in horizontal stripes, or they may be embroidered or beaded in elaborate designs.

TODAY IN WASHINGTON

STRIKE OF 7500 MINE WORKERS CALLED

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 14.—A strike of 7500 mine workers involving four thousand anthracite collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., was called today. The walkout grew out of a recent protest against 11 men being sent home when the gangway in which they were working was flooded with silt and water. The mine committee contended that the men should have been put at other work by the company.

GREEK PEOPLE VOTE TO SET UP REPUBLIC

ATHENS, April 14.—The Greek people have voted by a large majority for the establishment of a republican form of government to succeed the Glucksburg dynasty. Incomplete returns in yesterday's referendum received from Athens and the Piraeus up to midnight, show a majority of approximately 75 per cent in favor of the change. The provincial returns also indicate a republican majority but the proportion is uncertain.

Complete order has thus far been maintained here. The city was gaily illuminated last night and enthusiastic crowds paraded the streets behind military bands.

FUNERAL OF EX-CONG. EDWARD GILMORE

BROCKTON, April 14.—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, friends and politicians from far and near attended the funeral services for ex-Congressman Edward Gilmore this morning.

It was one of the largest funerals ever conducted in the city. There was not a vacant seat in St. Margaret's church, and the funeral cortege was nearly a mile long. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR BONUS OR TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Whether the bonus or tax bill will have the right of way in the senate, will be taken up at a meeting of the finance committee late today. No instructions were given majority members at the conference of senate republicans held this morning.

A report on the bonus bill, agreed to by the committee Saturday probably will be made to the senate tomorrow, Senator Curtis, Kansas, a republican member of the committee and in charge of the bill, said.

U. S. AIR SQUADRON RESTS AT SEWARD

SEWARD, Alaska, April 14.—After cutting a day from its scheduled itinerary by flying direct to Seward from Sitka, with a stop at Cordova, as originally planned, the United States army air squadron making globe encircling flight is at anchor in the harbor here preparing for the next stage of its journey, a flight to Chignik, Alaska, 450 miles from Seward. The time of departure hinges on weather conditions.

The four planes reached Seward late yesterday, a little more than seven hours after they hopped off from Sitka.

ASK FORD TO ATTEND HEARING

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The senate agriculture committee today directed Chairman Norris to request Henry Ford to appear in person or through an authorized agent during the hearings on Muscle Shoals and explain some features of his bid.

The committee also agreed to extend the hearings until April 29 to permit Governor Pinchot to testify.

D. A. R. CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON

Appeal for Law Enforcement Made by Mrs. Anthony W. Cook, President-General

Pres. Coolidge and French and British Ambassadors to Speak

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An appeal for law enforcement, particularly with regard to prohibition, and for faith in the government, was made today by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president-general in her message to the 33rd congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The congress assembled in Continental Memorial hall here for a week's session with about 2000 delegates present from practically every state, will hear President Coolidge this evening. The French ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, and the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, also will speak. President Coolidge's address will be broadcast by radio.

Election of the president-general does not take place this year, but eight vice presidents-general will be elected later in the week. Mrs. Cook urged the women of the nation to vote and make themselves responsible for the character of government, federal, state and local. She advocated the fostering of patriotism through education, as one of the needs of the day, and remarked that "at this particular moment in our national life when we are beset with assault upon our trusts in public officials it is well for us to renew our beliefs at the deep wells of old faiths."

"We must see to it," she said, "that we women are active, constructive forces for clear thinking and clean living in communities."

Mrs. Cook told the delegates that immigration would be the most pressing problem before congress when tax legislation was enacted and advocated a restrictive law which would prevent the admission of great numbers of southern Europeans, who, she said, would hard in congested centers and constitute a danger spot in the body politic. She urged an adequate army and an adequate navy as a guaranty of national peace with honor and declared the country required a merchant marine, even if a subsidy should be necessary.

HELD IN LONDON ON PROVIDENCE CHARGE

LONDON, April 14.—Bail in £2000 was today granted John Wesley DeKay, held under an indictment returned in Providence, R. I., in 1912, charging him with aiding in misappropriation of funds of the Atlantic National bank. Bail was granted by the high court to which he appealed after a lower court had ordered him remanded.

DeKay was arrested in Southampton April 10, upon his arrival from Hamburg, with his family.

FEDERAL SUPERVISION OF OUTDOOR RECREATION

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Members of the national policy committee on outdoor life appointed yesterday by President Coolidge, were called to meet today by Secretary Weeks, who will act as chairman of the committee. The other members of the committee are Secretaries Work, Wallace and Hoover, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. They are charged by the president with drafting a national policy co-ordinating under federal guidance all activities in behalf of outdoor recreation and Chairman Weeks today expressed the belief that "something worth while will be accomplished."

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS FOR MONTH OF MARCH

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The total value of merchandise imports for March was $219,000,000 and the value of exports for the same period was $241,000,000. Merchandise imports for the nine months ending March 31 were valued at $2,631,491,958, and exports at $2,324,263,974.

Gold exports for March totaled $217,374, against imports of $34,223,775. Exports of silver for March totaled $5,355,275 against imports of $4,226,934.

APPOINTMENT OF FREE STATE MINISTER

DUBLIN, April 14.—The Free State foreign minister, Desmond Fitzgerald, asked to comment on a report from Washington to the effect that the appointment of a Free State minister to the United States should be approved by the British government, that no British opposition was expected.

NAVAL AIR STATION AT SAND POINT

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The house naval committee today voted in favor of a naval air station at Sand Point, Washington.

COTTON PRICES RAG

NEW YORK, April 14.—(Responding to selling orders from Liverpool and the south and to weakness in the stock market, cotton prices sagged materially early today. May contract broke 74 points to 40.40 and new crop months lost 41 to 57 points. October sold at 25.10.

Summer Traffic Control Plan Goes Into Effect Today

"Days off" are Edward F. Liston and Paul M. Sullivan.

Hours of duty have been arranged as follows: 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Saturday, 12 noon to 9 p. m.; Sunday, 12 noon to 6 p. m.

Of particular significance today is the inauguration of the new traffic routing system which will keep the confines of the square between Central and Bridge streets free from all vehicles between the hours of 4:30 and 6 p. m. John and Kirk and Paige streets, and Gorham street from Middlesex to Appleton and Central street from Church street to Tower's corner will be one-way thoroughfares during the time limit. French and Paige streets will carry the bulk of traffic going to and from Merrimack street and Central street. Prescott street will be two-way, but no parking whatsoever will be allowed there. It must be kept clear for free moving traffic.

The accompanying diagram of traffic routes, reproduced again today, gives a clear idea of where automobile operators can and cannot go between the hours of 4:30 and 6 p. m. No particular confusion is expected, but there will be plenty of directing officers on duty to correct all mistakes. The absence of all vehicles from the square during the late afternoon rush hour should greatly facilitate the loading and unloading of electric cars and it is expected that the new plan will work out satisfactorily. If it does not, it easily can be changed, but Police Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson and Traffic Supervisor Edward Connors will watch its workings carefully before making any alterations.

Another change in traffic rules went into effect today when automobile owners were prohibited from parking machines "endwise" in Central street in the vicinity of Tower's corner; in Market street from Central to the office of the Lowell Electric Light Corp.; in John street from Merrimack to Paige, and in Paige street from John to Brookings. All cars must be parked parallel with the curb to allow all the room possible for the passage of traffic in the areas named.

In connection with the new routing plan, no parking will be allowed on the east side of Paige street from Bridge and Brookings street.

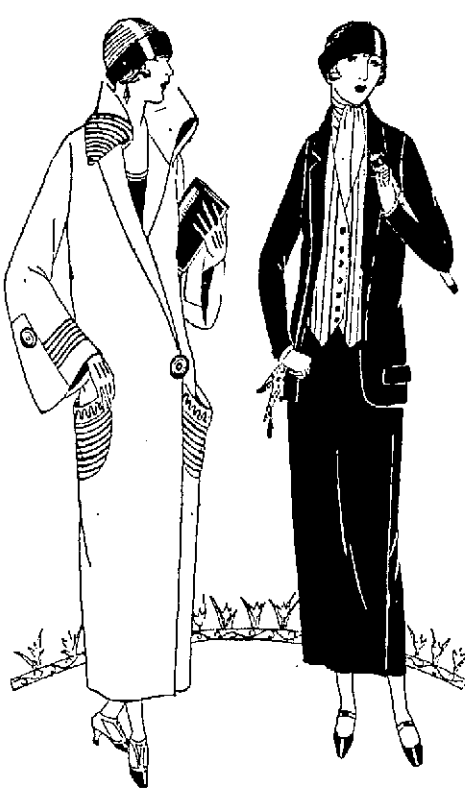

Chief Thomas R. Atkinson and Traffic Supervisor Connors have full direction over the new rules and regulations.

cessful opening it was, to be sure! Friendly visitors of both sexes called early and late, eager to inspect the shining, new mercantile establishment, floor and basement, now open for business. Shrewd well-wishers were also prepared to personally congratulate the two wideawake members of the enterprising firm of Favreau, for their marked progressiveness and successful attempt to introduce to Lowell and vicinity an up-to-date electrical merchandising house with a most convenient location in the busy part of the city trades.

The shop and open new store, now ready for public inspection and patronage, has a splendid layout from the attractive sky-blue street front with the dainty white-striped line decorations, to the main store, which contains a magnificent office. Adjoining, in the immediate rear, is a beautiful studio, equipped as a reception room for customers and inviting admiration for its beautiful new furniture equipment, its charming lights of all modern selections, and many in exclusive designs not to be found elsewhere outside of Boston or New York.

Beyond the cheerful reception room and entirely separate from the main store, are the commodious stock and repair rooms. A large basement gives ample room for the great stock of electrical fixtures and accessories which the new Pierre and Venance Favreau electrical construction and fixture studio carries.

Rarely in the memory of devotees of the electrical arts and trades has an establishment designed to meet every possible need and demand relating to home beautifying and household utilities in the home-maker's intimate field of heating, lighting and cooking, exhibited more complete, more carefully planned, more intelligent than this new Favreau concern at 659 Merrimack street.

Here are the most modern equipments of every conceivable kind for every particular line of patronage in utilities electrical. Finest quality and perfect service at very lowest costs are always to be maintained in the establishment bearing the name of Pierre and Venance Favreau today, tomorrow and always.

It is the aim of this concern to constantly maintain expert service that will retain customer patronage and increase that patronage. Certainly, ideals of this character should meet the approbation of all desiring electrical work, when quality and faithful service are sought.

The new electrical business, inaugurated under the most favorable auspices last Saturday by the Favreau brothers, Pierre and Venance, means the launching of a new business career in the Lowell electrical world that promises to bring prosperity in abundance to the wideawake young men and devoted brothers. They deserve all that is theirs by right of splendid energy, clean business records and courage.

Saturday visitors at the Pierre and Venance Favreau new electrical store and studio grand opening were both delighted and amazed at the beauty of the interiors. First inspections dwell in the reception room in the immediate rear, is a most highly attractive electric light fittings of the modern home. A charming set of red furniture of the summer home variety, with colored pearl gray Chintz seat and back coverings, attracts all feminine visitors immediately. It is an enticing room, with a marvelous electrical lamp display overhead and hanging from every point in the ceiling, scores of beautiful electrical lighting devices of every color of the rainbow and new designs not to be found anywhere else in the city.

The stock rooms are filled with up-to-date electrical goods to meet the Favreau house patronage. The work and fixtures department is ideal. The delivery system of the concern, already established, covers Lowell and all outside towns. Free deliveries are made everywhere.

It will be an "open house" all this week at the new electrical store at 659 Merrimack street. The excellent, handy location on the spot where the historic W. T. A. Bartlett hardware emporium stood and flourished for so many years, is ideal for the conduct of the Favreau business of the future.

The brothers, Pierre and Venance, have had 12 years' valued experience in electrical fields and are experts in their favorite line. House-wiring is the Favreau firm's specialty. And the "House of Favreau" now pushes ahead with every sign of prosperity pointing in the right direction.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

ITALO THEATRE

Due to the fact that from his brain have come the plots of some of the greatest photoplay successes of the past, the name of Peter H. Kyne has come to be associated with screen entertainment of a very high order. Everybody recalls the famous "Cappy Ricks" stories of which Kyne is the author. For many years an outdoor man, he has lived among the characters of whom his pen pictures are invariably interesting and true to life.

"One-Eighth Apache," his newest success, which opens at the Italto theatre today, is no exception to this statement. From beginning to end the attention is gripped and held by a series of episodes which for dramatic intensity have never been equaled on the screen. And in this particular case Mr. Kyne's story has been materially aided, not only by wonderful direction but by a fine cast of actors headed by Dolores, the second Miss Mason as played by the role of Brant Starwood, son of a wealthy westerner, who is at an eastern school where he is being educated. Brant, brought up in eastern surroundings, has a difficult time accustomed himself to the ways of the west, when he arrives home. But the main test comes when he is thrown on his own resources when his father is murdered.

"South Sea Love" with Shirley Mason is the companion feature, and presents the diminutive star in her first real drama. At first we see Miss Mason as Dolores, the second Miss Mason as played by the role of Brant Starwood, son of a wealthy westerner, who is at an eastern school where he is being educated. Brant, brought up in eastern surroundings, has a difficult time accustomed himself to the ways of the west, when he arrives home. But the main test comes when he is thrown on his own resources when his father is murdered.

A Century comedy and a Fox News completes the bill. Sam Cohen and his funny amateurs will appear at the Italto Tuesday night as usual.

THE STRAND

"Loving Lies," an adaptation from Peter H. Kyne's semi-sea story, "The Harbor Bar," is scoring a striking success during its run at the Strand for the first part of the week. Kyne has invariably written unusually interesting stories, particularly the kind that, when adapted to the screen, make marked and unqualified successes. "Loving Lies" is just that kind of a story that will appeal in every patron of the better grade of motion pictures.

EVERETT TRUE

BRITAIN APPROVES DAWES REPORT

LONDON, April 14. (By the Associated Press.)—If the Dawes report is acceptable to the other allied governments, it may be taken for granted that no obstacles are likely to be encountered here on the question of its adoption. This is the nearest to an official expression obtainable regarding the progress the British treasury officials have made in their examination of the reparations experts' recommendations.

British interest in the reparations situation today is centered upon the meeting of the committee of the German federal states with the cabinet of the Reich in Berlin. Their decision on the acceptability of the report is expected Wednesday.

A desire to see more screen offerings of that brand, Monte Blue and Evelyn Brent are appearing in the principal roles, and they receive the help of a competent cast. The scenic effects and tense scenes enacted during the progress of the story are most commendable, while the various characterizations are praiseworthy.

"Paddy the Next-Thing," Gartrude Page's famous stage success and novel, with Mae Marsh in the starring role, will be the second feature. How does an Irish flapper flap? Miss Marsh will answer this question to your entire satisfaction during the run of this feature. This bright star of Alhambra is afforded unusual opportunity to again reflect her personal charms as well as her exceptional ability. "Paddy the Next-Thing" is the story of a young Irish nurse. It has an abundance of good, wholesome humor, as well as a delightful love romance. Don't miss one of the treats of the season.

The remainder of the bill has a comedy and weekly, as well as musical numbers of merit.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Held to Answer," a Metro screen version of Peter Clark MacFarlane's sensational mystery story, now playing at the Merrimack Square theatre, has created a demand for the book at all the bookstores and public libraries. The story kept Callier's swept off the stands when it ran as a serial in that magazine. It is a thrilling action story of a fighting minister, an actress and the criminal courts. The cast includes such great favorites as House Peters, Grace Carlyle, James Morrison, Evelyn Brent and Gale Henry.

Other attractions for the first part of the week include "Sea Raiders," a thrilling story of the ocean, with an all-star Merrimack Square theatre, the international news and a new Boston Post reel, "The New England Home."

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Billy Hallen, the singing monologist, will head the present week's bill at the R. F. Keith's theatre. He is one of the best-known of the funny men on the vaudeville stage. Eugene Emmett in "The Family Revue" is a singer who is greatly loved and whose numbers of other days will touch all those who love the old-time music. Others who are slated for appearance during the week are Thomas J. Ryan, who is lovingly remembered for his impersonations, Norma Leyland and Marjorie Shannon, singers; Eunice Miller & Co., dancers, and the Tuscano Bros., Roman battle-axe jugglers. The week's picture feature is "Orphan Sally."

HOWEVER COMMA—

NEW YORK, April 14.—Originally it was thought for and seldom found thing in the world. In a book or a play it is a plot in a made in the dramatic critic's mind, made heavy with the soup of sex problems and the meat of love tales. Our present literary era is a highly unoriginal one. Authors seem blind to try new things. Well-beaten paths are too easy to follow and at first glance, they offer the surest route to the destination of success.

One symptom of this wave of patriotism is reflected in the number of books about our national capital. With Congress and Cabinet, by Redfield, "Your Washington and All Its Latimer, and "Forty Years in Washington," by Barry followed each other with lightning rapidity. Others probably will be along shortly.

The most original books are purely imaginative. The chap who can blow smoke-rings and see in the haze his picture of life in 500 years is the chap who is not to cross the path of any other writer.

Such a book is "The Ark of the Covenant" (Harpers) by a new writer, Victor MacClure. Super-airplanes, invisible power, transmission of anaesthetics hundreds of miles by radio serve to make this book, crude in spots, one of the most entertaining in recent weeks. At least it has the virtue of being original.

We had begun to think originally a lost art. Just today the stenographer in our office said her husband phoned he'd have to attend a lodge meeting in the evening. That's as original as the sick friend joke.

It is characteristic of William McFee's wistful nature that he should, in his new book, carry his reader to the

COUNTESS SELLS LONDON POST

LONDON, April 14.—Control of the Morning Post, owned by the Countess of Bathurst, is to be transferred to a body of influential conservatives, with whom the Duke of Northumberland is associated, it is announced. The countess has for some time been desirous of relinquishing ownership of the paper, owing to the heavy taxation.

TROOPS QUELL MUTINOUS CONVICTS

LISBON, April 14.—A number of convicts undergoing sentences in the Coimbra penitentiary for their part in the assassinations of Premier Grand and other prominent republicans here in 1921, mutinied yesterday. Led by the notorious Sailor "Gold Tooth" they attacked the wardens and tried to escape. Troops were called and restored order. No casualties are reported.

DANISH CABINET RESIGNS

COPENHAGEN, April 14.—The Danish cabinet of Premier Neergaard, which has held office since 1920, resigned today. The resignation was the result of the defeat of the government party in last week's election, the labor party electing the largest number of members of any party in the Folketing. At the request of King Christian, however, the Neergaard cabinet will continue in office provisionally.

edge of the ocean and leave him to stare out over the horizon. The book is called "Race" (Doubleday, Page).

Incidentally, we wish to thank Mr. McFee for his autographed copy of the specially bound 100 copies in advance of the regular first edition for their friends.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the board of managers of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Friday at the store of Mrs. Rose Jordan Hartford, president of the club. Because of the fact that the next meeting, under the constitution, comes on April 23, the evening of the Lowell Guild hall, it was decided to hold but a brief session on that evening, postponing the regular meeting until April 23. A fine musical and literary program is being arranged for that date and able speakers will address the gathering.

PALM SUNDAY SERVICES IN LOCAL CATHOLIC CHURCHES YESTERDAY

Palms Blessed and Distributed—Inspiring Exercises in Connection With Closing of Missions for Men—Holy Thursday and Good Friday Services

Men's missions in three local Catholic churches closed with inspiring services yesterday afternoon. After a week of sincere spiritual activity, missions were closed in St. Patrick's, the Immaculate Conception and the Sacred Heart churches.

Yesterday was Palm Sunday, the feast-day significant of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem, and witnessed in the solemn pageant of Holy week, during which the final Lenten services leading up to Easter Sunday will be held. Palms were blessed and distributed in all the churches yesterday.

Next Thursday is Maundy or Holy Thursday, the day on which the Catholic church observes the occasion of the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Mass will be celebrated in the morning and tenhonor devotions will be held in the evening. The blessed sacrament will be exposed all day, and many Catholics will continue the ancient and pious custom of visiting the various churches of the city.

On Friday morning of this week, Good Friday, the mass of the presanctified will be celebrated in all churches.

All the masses, with the exception of the high mass, in St. Patrick's church, yesterday, were celebrated by members of the Passionist order, who conducted the men's mission during the week. Rev. Fr. Benedict, C.P., celebrated the 6 o'clock mass; Rev. Fr. Oswald, C.P., the 7 o'clock mass; Rev. Fr. Xavier, C.P., the 8:30 o'clock mass; and Rev. Fr. Daniel, C.P., the 9:30 o'clock mass.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, the men's mission was brought to a close with a sermon, recitation of the rosary, renewal of the baptismal vows, bestowal of the papal blessing and benediction of the blessed sacrament. There were about 2000 men in attendance, presenting a highly inspiring spectacle as they stood up to solemnly renew their baptismal vow, each man in the huge congregation holding a lighted candle in his hand. It was an impressive climax to one of the most successful missions ever held in this church.

It was announced at each of yesterday's masses that the mass on Holy Thursday will be at 7:45 o'clock, and at the same hour on Friday. Holy water will be blessed before the 7 o'clock mass Saturday morning. There will be stations of the cross Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, while at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, a sermon will be delivered and will be followed by veneration of the cross.

The men's mission in the Immaculate Conception church was also brought to a close at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Fox, O.M.I., gave the sermon on Perseverance. Rev. Fr. Wood, O.M.I., said the rosary and imparted the papal blessing. Solemn benediction closed the service.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass in the morning, members of the Y.M.C.I. received communion in a body. The mass was celebrated by Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O.M.I., one of the fathers who has been active in mission work. After mass, a communion breakfast was served in the institute rooms in Stackpole street. Very Rev. Lawrence P. Tishie, O.M.I., provincial of the Oblate order in this vicinity, spoke to the members after the breakfast. Other speakers were Rev. Fr. Wood, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. Fox, O.M.I.

The elaborate entertainment program included selections by Frank Lynch, Joseph Craven, Andrew McCarthy, Thomas Carlin, James Corrigan, Jr., Edward Cawley, Frank McCarthy and Charles J. Keres. "Roby" Hart, big-league umpire, also took occasion to say a few words to the members.

President John Shields conducted the exercises.

Masses on Holy Thursday and Good Friday will be at 8 o'clock, while the Saturday mass will be at 7 o'clock.

The third men's mission to be brought to a close yesterday afternoon was that in the Church of the Sacred Heart. As in St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception, the church was filled with men during the services.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, the men received communion in a body, and breakfast was later served to 500 of them in the Sacred Heart school hall. This feature was under the auspices of the Holy Name society and was by far the largest and most successful function of its kind ever held here.

Among the invited guests who were seated at the main table were Mayor Donovan, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., pastor; Rev. James Gallagher, O.M.I., of Buffalo, N. Y., one of the missionaries; Councilor John W. Daly; Councilor Daniel F. Moriarty; John R. Higgins, president of the Holy Name society; James Daley, captain of the Lowell high track and basketball teams; and Joseph Slavin and Robert O'Neill, also well known high school athletes.

Following the breakfast, remarks were made by the mayor, by Fr. Sullivan, by Fr. Gallagher, by Councilors Daly and Moriarty, by President Higgins, by James Keenan, manager of the Sacred Heart basketball team, and by James J. Cowell, for 25 years financial secretary of the Holy Name society. As a token of appreciation for his good work, Fr. Sullivan presented Mr. Cowell a solid gold watch.

The entertainers on the program were Martin Maguire, William Sathier, Thomas Hartley, Timothy Finnegan and Raymond Kelley.

The officers of the committee consisted of the following: John E. Boyle, chairman; Philip Mullane, secretary; James E. Burns, William Boyd, Joseph Jennings, William Davidson, Joseph Ryan, John Connolly, James Duggan, Thomas Linnehan, Joseph Murphy, James Keenan, Frank Clark, Robert Gill, Peter Flynn, John Dean, Thomas Sheehan and James Heelan.

The officers of the society are: President, John R. Higgins; vice president, Cornelius J. Sullivan; recording secretary, Frank Clark; financial secretary, John E. Boyle; spiritual director, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I.

Yesterday was communion Sunday for the members of St. Peter's Holy Name society. The men received in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, Very Rev. Daniel J. Kelcher, Ph.D. St. Peter's Cadets received communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass. Lenten devotions will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Masses Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings will be at 8 o'clock.

Members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion at the 8 o'clock mass in St. Michael's church yesterday. Communion will be given Thursday morning at 5:30 and 7 o'clock and at the solemn high mass at 8:30 o'clock. Mass of the pre-sanctified and veneration of the cross will be held Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and there will be veneration of the cross again after the stations of the cross in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. Lenten devotions, consisting of sermon, rosary and benediction, will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. St. Michael's Charity guild will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30.

Services in St. Margaret's church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings will be held at 7 o'clock. Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be recitation of the rosary and a sermon. Confessions will be heard Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The Holy Name society of St. Columba's church met last evening at 6:30 o'clock. Masses on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be at 8 o'clock. Confessions will be heard Wednesday afternoon and evening. Stations of the cross will be held Friday afternoon at 7 o'clock, and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, there will be a sermon, the reading of the passion and veneration of the cross.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN CONFERENCE

MacDonald and Rakovsky Outline Work at Opening Session

Meeting Outcome of Note Granting Soviet Russia Recognition de Jure

LONDON, April 14.—(By the Associated Press).—The opening session of the Anglo-Russian conference today assumed broad lines. Prime Minister MacDonald, who called the conference at the foreign office, where the delegates will arrive to reach a settlement of the outstanding questions between the two countries, joined with Christian Rakovsky, head of the soviet delegation in outlining the work. Mr. MacDonald explained that the meeting was an outcome of the note sent to Foreign Minister Tschichirin, granting soviet Russia recognition de jure. The conference, he said, was a complement of that act and in no wise altered the fact that the recognition was unqualified.

The liquidation of the past relationship between the two countries, he stated, must be considered as well as the peaceful relations of the future. The conference was barely under way before Mr. MacDonald warned the soviet delegates against engaging in Bolshevik propaganda in England during the negotiations, which are certain to extend over many weeks. The labor minister assumed his gravest manner after welcoming the Russians and told them his government would not countenance propaganda of any sort from the Russian visitors.

The premier's statement was somewhat tempered and made more acceptable when he pointed out that he was not demanding anything from the Russians; he would not ask from any political mission visiting this country. He made it plain to M. Rakovsky and the other Russian delegates that at the first indication of Bolshevik propaganda methods, with which he as a veteran socialist is familiar, a halt in the Anglo-Russian negotiations would be called.

M. Rakovsky, replying to Mr. MacDonald's address, which was translated into Russian, discussed Anglo-Russian relations along even broader lines than did the British prime minister. M. Rakovsky emphasized the future peace of Europe and the necessity for disarmament, incidentally referring sympathetically to the League of Nations. He assured the British that Russia desired close financial and commercial relations with this country. All the outstanding questions, he said, must be settled and the old treaties revised.

M. Rakovsky and Arthur Ponsonby, under secretary for foreign affairs, who as vice president of the conference will act as substitute for Premier MacDonald, agreed to arrange the agenda this afternoon in private session. Thereafter the public will be kept in direct touch with the conference only through the communications issued to the press.

TODAY'S CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

An ordinary Monday routine of cases came up for disposition in district court this morning.

Joseph E. Arsenault, of Lawrence, charged with drunkenness, was allowed to go after he compensated a young man in the sum of $12 for a tooth he knocked out following a dance hall row Saturday night. Edward Gahagan, who was arrested by Officer John Lynch in Middlesex street yesterday when he started the neighborhood by climbing a fire escape, was sentenced to one month in the house of correction for drunkenness.

Thomas Parvolutis, drunkenness, paid a fine of $5.

Patrick Fitzgerald, drunkenness, was continued in $200 until tomorrow.

Bill Clermont, drunkenness, was found guilty and given a suspended sentence to the state farm.

Louis Winkler was found guilty of drunkenness and was given a direct sentence to the state farm.

Joseph Ferron pleaded guilty to illegally keeping liquor for sale and paid a fine of $100.

F. J. Barrett of Westford was fined $5 for failing to produce his license when so requested by Lieut. Patrick Prawl Saturday night.

Earle Decosson and Alta Sawyer, both charged with a statutory offense, were found guilty and fined $10 each.

THE LOWELL REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

The monthly meeting of the Lowell Real Estate Exchange which was scheduled for this noon was postponed until next Monday noon by the president, E. Gaston Campbell, this morning. The postponement was made necessary by the receipt of a call for a meeting of the state exchange in Boston this evening at which several matters of importance are to be acted upon. It is believed action by the local exchange will be requested on these matters and the meeting was postponed to next Monday so that action might be taken at that time. A large number of local real estate men will attend tonight's meeting, which will be held in the Hotel Bellevue, Boston.

Copies of the proposed by-laws and constitution of the Lowell exchange are being mailed to members today and will be acted upon at the next meeting. The purposes of the exchange, as given in the by-laws are as follows:

"To unite the real estate men of Lowell and its suburbs for the purpose of exerting effectively a combined influence upon matters affecting the real estate interests. To enable the members to transact their business connected with the buying, selling, renting and caring for real estate and the loaning of money upon the same to better advantage than heretofore, by the adoption of such rules and regulations as hereinafter mentioned.

INTERESTING STORY OF GREAT NORTHWEST

A colorful story of the Great Northwest was told at the Memorial Auditorium yesterday afternoon in a Parker series lecture by Frank Branch Riley, a member of the Oregon bar and active in such organizations as the Pacific Highway association and the National Park Highway association. He also was promoter of the Oregon-Washington Columbia river bridge.

The lecturer made a stirring plea for reforestation and declared unless serious thought is given to the matter America will be stripped bare of timber lands. His talk was beautifully illustrated and included views of Mt. Rainier and Mt. Hood and other wonders of the region familiarly known as the northwest.

In part Mr. Riley said: "Here in the spaces of Washington and Oregon are today one-third of the forest lands of Uncle Sam. The tree growth is wonderful and the tall trunks, standing up majestically, are now being cut down and great quantities of timber are going to Japan for the construction of houses, for no longer are houses being built of bamboo in Japan."

"They are cutting the trees down fast and transporting them for lumber. First in the despoilation of the forests began in New England, then it was carried out about Philadelphia and now trees are being taken down in the states where today is one-third of Uncle Sam's timber. It is a saddening sight to see the constant cutting down that is going on without any replanting. Just think of it, trees that have been growing for 600 years until they have become the magnificent specimens they are now are brought down in 25 minutes. At the rate the cutting is going on without replanting this country will be naked in 50 years."

standards of conduct in the transaction of real estate business. "To protect the public against unethical, improper or fraudulent practices by real estate men or irresponsible brokers."

"To educate the public to trade only with those members who have agreed to observe the standards maintained by this exchange."

ELABORATE PROGRAM AT ST. ANNE'S CHURCH

Elaborate organ and choral programs of religious music in keeping with Holy Week observances of stiller character everywhere, were presented to a throng of worshippers last evening in St. Anne's church. "The Seven Last Words of Christ," the famous musical setting by Theodorus Dubois of the last utterances of Our Lord just before his crucifixion, was sung in its entirety. Special soloists and an augmented choir produced a program that could not be surpassed for deeply religious fervor in song. William C. Heller was organist and gave a preliminary recital.

During the course of the oratorio, Rev. Apollon Grannis, rector of the church, who conducted the services, also gave short explanations to the audience. Rev. Mr. Grannis was assisted in the services by Rev. P. S. Beattie.

TRYING TO LOCATE McINTOSH FAMILY

Local police assistance has been requested by A. J. Reddy, motion picture operator with the Overmurray players who are now in Boston, in locating his step-father, John H. McIntosh, and the latter's son and daughter, Harold, aged about 21, and Myrtle, aged about 19 years. When last heard of, Mr. McIntosh and his family were living in New England and Mr. Reddy is of the opinion they resided in this city at one time and may still be living here.

Any information concerning the McIntosh family may be sent direct to Mr. Reddy at room 351, Westminster hotel, Boston, or to police headquarters in this city.

Good Health In Happy Old Age

THE chief concern of elderly people is their health, and that is best assured by regular daily bowel movement. There is no truth, however, in the notion that because you are old you need a "strong physic." In fact, just because you are old a mild laxative is better for you. The trouble with purges and cathartics and physics is that they shock the system and weaken it, and make the muscles of digestion flabby. Dr. G. H. Brown, V. S., of Frederic, Wis., nearly wrecked his stomach with purgatives. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin restored his health, as it did Mrs. J. S. Etheridge's, of Millidgeville, Ga.

Does Not Gripe

You can be sure of satisfactory evacuations every day if you will take a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin at night when you retire.

You will not need to take it very long as a few doses will soon encourage the bowels to act for themselves. The popularity of this wonderful family remedy has become so great that it is now the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world. Because of its mildness and freedom from gripping it is especially ideal for the extremes of ages, for children and for elderly people.

Effective at Small Cost

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store. The formula is on the package, and the cost less than a cent a dose. Take it when you feel heavy, sleep poorly, have headache or night cramps, for these are also symptoms of constipation. Give it to the children when they are restless, feverish or have a cold. Syrup Pepsin will keep you and the family free from constipation, a condition that lowers the vitality 25 per cent and raises the blood pressure 28 per cent. Freedom from constipation lessens the pain of kidney trouble, neuritis and rheumatism.

THE PRESIDENT'S BLAST

The situation at Washington takes on increased interest and excitement as a result of the sharp message of President Coolidge to the senate, objecting to the proposed methods of investigating the revenue department in which Sen. Mellon is the chief official under fire. It was Senator Coughlin of Michigan, who had proposed the engagement of Lawyer Heney of California as counsel in the investigation of the revenue department. It is well known that Mr. Heney has won a great reputation for conducting campaigns against political corruptionists; and it is naturally assumed that his course in reference to the proposed investigation would be quite sensational. Secretary Mellon, therefore, appealed to the president and the message from the White House was the result.

The president makes the point that the committee would go outside the limits of the law in its proposed investigation, particularly when it would call for the tax returns of various companies and public officials. He also claims that such information is not sought as a basis for future legislation. That Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, favored the engagement of Heney as counsel, was probably one of the things that moved the president to write a letter snubbing the committee.

The democratic senators charge that the president's letter might be construed as against all the investigations now in progress; but it appears that there is no disposition among the democrats to widen the breach between the senate and the executive department. The president's letter, however, came in the nature of a surprise, inasmuch as he had maintained complete silence for several months even during rather exciting developments. It is but right, however, that he should offer objection, if he sees the investigations taking on an atmosphere of personal antagonism or being used as a means of avenging spite against any public official. There have been occasions that seemed to call more loudly for the president's interference than did anything in the present situation, but yet he maintained silence. The general verdict seems to be, that he should have taken this attitude sooner if he meant to interpose as to what particular lines the investigations should follow.

HOLIDAY OBSERVANCES

The conflicting views in regard to the observance of Patriots day on Saturday, April 13, have brought up a discussion relative to a change in our laws regarding the observance of holidays. So much inconvenience results to business and other interests from the interference of the holiday observances that the suggestion is made that a law be enacted providing that each legal holiday shall be observed on the nearest Monday before or after. This, it is obvious, would prevent great loss and inconvenience to merchants and manufacturers, who have frequently to close up on the most important business days of the week. Patriots day this year may be cited as an example. If we had a rule for observing holidays on Mondays, the people who work in the mills and others who need a rest, could make arrangements for the enjoyment of the occasion, starting either Friday night or Saturday afternoon, and returning to work on Tuesday morning. That would afford them a real rest and everybody would feel the benefit of such a respite.

Changes in our calendar have been going on for ages, dictated chiefly by astronomers and finally by Pope Gregory, who framed the present calendar, which is as nearly correct as the astronomers can make it.

A proposition is put forward, however, to abandon the Gregorian calendar and adopt one having thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, so that every feast and holiday would fall on the same day of the week and the same date of the month each year.

Thirteen months, of four weeks each, would make 364 days. There would be an odd day left out of the reckoning and this would be set apart as New Year for general observance. The additional days of leap year would come in as a slight jar to this thirteen-month arrangement. But if universally adopted, the plan would be a great source of convenience and would be very much preferable in many respects to the present calendar so far as the observance of Easter and some other feasts are concerned. Under such a system, Christmas would always fall upon the same day of the week and so with every other annual holiday and everybody's birthday.

Under such a plan, the arrangement for observing the holidays on Mondays would be equally feasible and convenient. To celebrate our holidays on Mondays would be more convenient for everybody and for all the interests involved, and it would not in the slightest detract from the appreciation of the holidays to be observed. It is a suggestion worthy of consideration by our state lawmakers.

TEACHING THE CONSTITUTION

The National Security League is making a great drive in advocacy of a state law that would make it obligatory on the schools of all the states to offer instruction upon the principles of the constitution, in the classrooms. The object is a good one, although it is presumed that such instruction is given in all the schools, at least in the higher grades, in connection with the teaching of history. Wherever history is taught, the constitution and its provisions cannot be overlooked; but the National Security League wants to have the constitution explained in all its various features, such, for example, as the preamble, the framework of the government, the habeas corpus provision, grand jury and trial by jury, freedom of religion and of the press, the right of private property, protection against theft and seizure and quartering troops on the people, the declaration of war, the methods of amending the constitution, and the power of the supreme court of the United States as the highest interpreter of the constitution.

There are already so many interferences with school work that it is hard to encourage any addition in this line; but there is certainly none of more importance than special instruction on the constitution, its meaning, its scope and its peculiar character as the very palladium of our liberties. It is only by systematic instruction by people fully competent to explain the constitution, that the children can be given a proper grasp of the subject and made to appreciate how vastly important this constitution is as the very foundation of our system of government, and a document which has no equal outside the bible.

The National Security League, in order to encourage the study of the constitution, offers $7500 in prizes for ten of the best short stories explaining the genesis of the leading provisions of the constitution. That means a prize of $750 for each essay selected and the stories are to contain 150 words each, which would be a dollar a word, for each winning essay.

This contest will doubtless encourage the study of the constitution and serve a patriotic purpose in causing a greater number of people to understand its provisions and the fundamental basis of the liberties we enjoy in this country. Already 25 states have a law such as the N. S. L. advocates but Massachusetts is not among the number.

It is gratifying to find the increased local interest in the constitution as indicated by the course of lectures before the Knights of Columbus which is to be repeated for the students of the high school. This study of the constitution will increase the number of its defenders and the general respect for its provisions.

WHAT WE EAT

Our generation eats 36 per cent more food and 374 per cent more sugar than our grandparents, claims the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

The claim about increased sugar consumption is indisputable. Sugar has naturally taken the place of its twin brother, alcohol.

But we doubt that modern people eat about a third more food than their grandparents, some of whom thought nothing of a pound of ham or steak, or four eggs and a panful of flapjacks as ample for breakfast. Statistics may indicate more food is being consumed. Our guess is that the increase goes into the garbage pail. There is a great increase in the consumption of sugar and a corresponding increase in bad teeth, diabetes and some other diseases. Excessive use of sugar is like burning the furniture to keep the house warm. A moderate supply of sugar, however, is an absolute necessity.

MAKE IT PERMANENT

It is now proposed to transfer the duties of the commission upon the necessities of life, to the Department of Labor and Industries, and to make its functions permanent. The idea is apparently a good one, inasmuch as it is well to have some bureau or organization ready to act in the interest of the people whenever such action seems necessary. A permanent bureau as a sub-division of a state department would be preferable to a commission chosen for a special purpose.

The old man stood watching the player for a while, and then exclaimed: "Take no notice of him. There's a trick in it; he hasn't really swallowed it!"

Fair Lillian's Ace
"Exactly how old are you, anyway?" a friend once asked Lillian Russell. "I have a friend," replied the actress with apparent irrelevance, "who was born in mid-ocean on a steamer. After she and her mother had landed, the steamer on its return trip, blew up. So practically she has no birthplace." Then, after a pause: "My ace is like that."

The Horrid Violinist
A noted violinist, a shy and quiet man except when riled or annoyed, was playing at a private house, and an elderly woman, a passionate lover of music, drew closer and closer to him as he continued to play. She was interested in the score and to each in the melody she put her head almost against his. The violinist, who had been growing angrier every moment, suddenly ceased playing, and, whipping out his handkerchief, wiped the woman's nose with it. She was furious and grew more so when he said: "I beg your pardon, but your nose was so close to my face that I thought it was my own."

The Hefty Pigeon
On the cross-beam under the Old South bell
The nest of a pigeon is builded well.
In summer and winter that bird is there.
Out and in with the morning air;
I love to see him track the street,
With his wary eye and active feet.
And I often watch him as he springs,
Circling the steeple with easy wings,
Till across the dial his shade has passed,
And the hefty eagle is calmed at last;
Tis a bird I love, with its brooding note,
And the trembling thrill in its mottled throat;
There's a human look in its swelling breast;
And the gentle curve of its lowly crest,
And I often stop with the faintest feel,
He runs so close to the rapid wheel.

Whatever is rung on that noisy bell,
Chime of the hour, or funeral knell,
The dove in the hefty must hear it well.
When the tongue swings out to the midnight moon,
When the sexton chortles rings for noon,
When the clock strikes clear at morning light,
When the child is waked with "nature at night,"
When the chimneys play soft in the Sabbath air,
Filling the spirit with tones of prayer—
Whatever tale in the bell is heard,
He broods on his folded feet unsuired,
Or, closing half his beak, he nods,
Or takes the time to smooth his breast,
Then drops again, with flared eyes,
And sleeps as the last vibration dies.

Sweet bird! I would that I could be
A hermit in the crowd like thee!
With wings to fly to wood and glen,
Thy lot, like mine, is cast with men;
And daily, with unwilling feet,
I tread, like thee, the crowded street;
But, unlike me, when day is o'er,
Thou canst dismiss the world, and sear.
Or, at a half-felt wish for rest,
Canst smooth the feathers on thy breast,
And drop, forgetful, to thy nest.

I would that, in such wings of gold,
I could my weary heart unfold,
I would I could look down unmoved
(Unloving as I am unmoved),
And while the world throngs on beneath,
Smooth down my ears and calmly breathe.

And never sad with others' sadness,
And never glad with others' gladness,
Listen, unsuited, to knell or chime,
And, hushed in quiet, bide my time.

—NATHANIEL PARKER WILLIS.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Chief R. R. Frederick, local navy recruiting officer, is one of the great boosters of the service. I have never met with over 14 years' service in the navy, during which time he has served on many of the big ships and at land stations from San Diego, California, to Lowell. He knows what the navy does for a man and is anxious to get young men from this city who are ambitious to sign up for our country and sea for themselves. Just what Uncle Sam will do for them and at the same time give them comfortable pay for their services. In summing up the advantages of navy life, Chief Frederick says the pay is good and steady during the whole length of service, the food is wholesome and nourishing, there is a variety of work and some, there are unequal opportunities for advancement, and, at the end of 16 years an enlisted man may retire at 1-3 of his base pay plus certain additions, which amounts in most cases to $72.50 a month. Can any other line of work equal this, asks Chief Frederick.

Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle is in a position which he terms "between the devil and the deep blue sea," in connection with the appointment of a superintendent for the new Highlands postal station, which is to be opened within the next month. For over two weeks now the post office has been over the qualifications of the applicants, numbering about 10, and has cut that number down to about five. He must make the appointment within a week to receive authorization from

NORTH CHELMSFORD FIRE DISTRICT RALLY

Members of North Chelmsford fire district are to rally on Wednesday evening for important business which will include the hearing of the report of a special committee appointed some time ago to consider the establishing of a system of sewers in the district and to act upon recommendations that may be submitted. A sewage project for the North Chelmsford territory has been discussed for several years but no definite action has ever been taken, except to appoint committees of investigation and report.

Two other articles in the special district meeting warrant call for the extension of the water mains on Princeton boulevard as far as the Fallon homestead and on the old Boston road.

Now with the baseball season at high school about to open, the thoughts of Faculty Manager James F. Conway, Coach Liston and other physical training instructors turn to football. The question of the hour is "Whether to have spring training for the football squad," and this question is being argued daily wherever those interested in school athletics meet. Lowell must this year put a team on the gridiron that will uphold the honor of the school and the consensus of opinion is that to do this, spring training is necessary. Mr. Conway favors the idea and it is believed that Lowell high will issue a call for grid men early in May so that the rudiments of the school's system may be instilled in the candidates' minds before school closes. Then, in fall, Coach Liston will be able to go ahead and get the squad into actual playing practice without any delay.

Ten days after their scheduled appearance upon the city streets, the electric sprinkling cars blossomed forth in all their glory Friday morning and began their summer work of wetting down the smooth paved streets. To the pedestrian, the sprinkling car is well-known, as it lays the dust but to the automobilist it is just another danger added to the many that greet him every time he takes his machine onto the highway. A great many automobilists advocate the flushing of streets during the night time, as practiced in many of the larger cities, in place of the constant wetting of them by the electric sprinkling car. Cement and granite-block paving is slippery enough to automobile tires and sprinkling merely makes them more slippery.

36 CAPTURED IN HUB GAMBLING RAID

BOSTON, April 14.—As a result of a raid made shortly after midnight on a poolroom in the basement of the building at 58 Market street, in the Brighton district, 36 men will be in Brighton court today charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

It was asserted yesterday that the capture of 36 men in the place was the largest capture of its kind that has occurred in this city for some time. All were hooked at headquarters, and it is believed that most of the prisoners gave fictitious names and addresses. All were bailed.

Inspector George Patterson and Sergeant Hines of the vice squad at headquarters, assisted by Special Officers Garrett, Higgins and several more members of the squad, staged the raid. When the large number of men were found in the poolroom a call for help was sent to the Brighton police station and several officers from that station were sent to the scene.

It is said that the police have information that the poolroom has been used for some time as the scene of gambling activities with high stakes. It was asserted yesterday that the lowest bet which could be made on a turn of the dice was $5, and that the bets at times ran as high as $200. Thousands of dollars have changed hands at a session, if the information the police have is correct.

When one of the prisoners was booked at headquarters $5000 in bills was found in his possession. Another had $2500 in cash. It was said yesterday that one man who had cleaned up $7000 on the evening's work left the place just before the officers arrived.

The officers went to the poolroom with a warrant which had been secured in the Brighton court. The door was locked. It was smashed in, and as the officers jumped inside it was said two shots were fired. Nobody was struck by the bullets, and when the police announced themselves those present lined up and submitted to arrest.

In talking about the firing of the shots later at headquarters the prisoners, while denying that they knew the identity of the shooter, said they believed they were being "hit-jacked" and were to be held up by a gang.

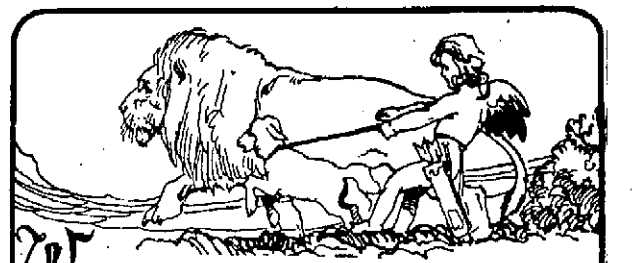

Seven dice, a pack of playing cards and several Kelly pool pills were seized by the police.

The AUTO-CRAT

Said the radish to the turnip, "What a bully place I've got; when they planted seed to grow me, they picked out a classy spot." Then the turnip, slightly jealous, perked its leaves and looked around, and it answered, "What's the matter with my little spot of ground?"

While the argument was passing, Mister Pumpkin snickered loud. "I've got heaps of room," he shouted, "while you're always forced to crowd. I can spread my vines at random, I am never put to rout, while they plant you two so closely that they have to weed you out."

Then Miss Lettuce waved a leaflet and Miss Pea Pod joined the fray, and the parsley and tomatoes also had to have their say. When the waving golden bantam said, "I cannot kick a bit 'bout my dirt," they thought him kidding, "cause he grew away from it."

Look and loud the chatter followed as to whom was treated best, each one claiming he was favored and stood better, than the rest. Then lowly little mung bean spoke aloud with grinning face: "I'm the favorite, though a weed, 'cause I grow all around the place."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

JACK-IN-THE-BOX IS A HERO!

JACK-IN-THE-BOX JUMPED OUT AT HIM

The peanut boy came rushing by and hid behind Nancy. "Oh, save me! Save me!" he cried. "The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant is after me. I can hear him coming."

When he reached the twins he stopped. "Did you see a peanut around here anywhere?" he asked. "I mean, a peanut boy?"

"What do you want to know for?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, I like him, that's why," declared the elephant. "I want to talk to him."

"No, you don't," said Nick. "You want to eat him and you're not allowed to. Everybody in Doofunny Land is supposed to be safe."

The elephant laughed. "As though a peanut needed to be safe! Just because he has a face painted on him he calls himself a person. That's a fine joke, that is."

"Everybody in Doofunny Land is a person, no matter what he is," said Nancy. "You're just trying to make up an excuse for being so greedy."

Suddenly the elephant lifted his trunk up and sniffed loudly. "Ah! he's coming!" he thought.

And with that he reached over Nancy's shoulder with his trunk and was just about to grab the peanut boy, when seeing that his hiding place was discovered, the poor fellow ran away as fast as he could go.

And after him went the elephant. Nick caught hold of the elephant's tail, but it was only a little piece of string and came off.

"My goodness!" remarked the jumping Jack to the Jack-in-the-Box. "I'm afraid that is the end of our friend and he has had so much trouble since he came to Doofunny Land, too!"

"Would you like me to save him?" croaked Jack-in-the-Box.

"Who? You? Why, you can't even walk, my good friend. How could you save anybody?"

"I'll show you. Just shove my head down and put down my lid and eat me out in the middle of the road there and fix the fastener so I can open it with a little push."

"Oh, save me! Save me!" cried the peanut boy, rushing behind the funny square box. The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant was at his very heels.

"I know where you are!" shouted the elephant, waving his trunk. "You're behind that funny box." And he was reaching around with his trunk when, "Sk-r-r-r-r!"

Jack-in-the-Box jumped out at him, wagging his shaggy head like a lion.

And away went the elephant like a comet; he was so scared he never stopped even when he reached the circus tent.

You may imagine what a hero Jack-in-the-Box was after that.

KEEP YOUR CHEST UP!

"Pretty chesty," said Mr. Mann of Anytown, quite admiringly, as he eyed his junior clerk.

The clerk, stripped off his coat and displaying a gaily striped silk shirt, displayed also what appeared to be a perfect 45 chest.

But you never can tell.

Many a man with a good looking chest can't expand it more than half an inch to save his neck. With a 45 chest the clerk should be able to show a 49 under expansion.

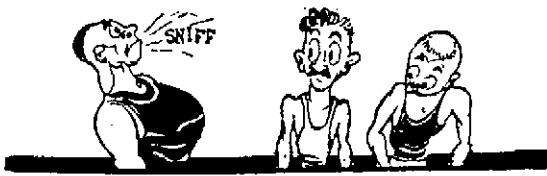

The average person should have a chest expansion equal to 10 per cent of its minimum girth.

Any person can easily figure it out. Just take a tape measure, contract the chest and put the tape just below the breast. If, for instance, the measurement is 38, the measure should show 41 when expanded.

If it doesn't, begin chest development exercises. Take such exercises, anyhow.

Any of half a hundred breathing exercises are good. And breathing exercises should be taken for the good of the abdomen and diaphragm and circulation generally.

Don't let it get like the old chest in the barrel, stiff clogged and in decay. Keep your chest up!

FIREMEN RESPOND TO TELEPHONE ALARMS

A blazing tree stump in a vacant lot near 110 Lincoln street was responsible for a telephone alarm at 11:10 o'clock last night. A hand chemical was sufficient to extinguish the fire.

Yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock fire apparatus was summoned by telephone to Rogers street where a grass fire was in progress. Hand chemicals and brooms quickly conquered this blaze and there was no damage to property.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SERVICES

At the devotional services conducted in First Congregational church last evening, the pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas took for his sermon topic, "Peace." In connection with the evening services, a beautiful dramatization of the painting "Christ Before Pilate" was given.

The following members took part in the presentation: Earle Costello, Frank Dobson, Walter Muzzey, Geo. H. Upton, J. Edward Gibson, Edward E. Stanley, Paul M. Mertrude, Clarence E. Tove, D. C. Donaldson, W. E. Hatch, E. B. Cornell and Mrs. I. Burn-

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Multifold coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Multifold coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

ette Sweatt and her little daughter. The dramatization was given under the immediate direction of Mrs. George H. Upton.

Before the start of the regular evening service, the audience that filled every seat in the church, deeply enjoyed a fine organ recital, given by Mr. Wilfred Kershaw, new organist of First Congregational. The organist offered most impressively Handel's "Largo" and the "Marche Religieuse" by Handel. The song service followed.

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minn.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE DEFEATS TEXTILE IN LISTLESS GAME

Charlie Reynolds Holds Locals to Five Scattered Hits and Visitors Land 6 to 3 Victory—Tommy Joy Stars at Bat for Home Team—Collected Three Hits

Lowell Textile lost its second home game of the season on the Textile campus last Saturday afternoon when Providence college won a listless game by a score of 6 to 3.

The Providence boys entered the scoring column in the opening inning and maintained their advantage throughout the nine full innings of play. Charlie Reynolds was on the mound for the visitors and while he was not in mid-season form, he pitched a better game than Ray Farrell, Textile's pitching ace. The Red and Gray warriors scattered but five hits off the opposing moundmen while Providence touched up Farrell and Tommy Joy for a half-dozen singles.

Coach Gantley's men did not display the form they did against Boston University in the season's opening last Wednesday. The fact that Saturday was a better day for baseball, however, the followers of the local nine need not be discouraged at Saturday's performance. In the present season, Textile appears to have a better team than she has had for some years. With a little warmer weather and the competition that is scheduled to come this week, the boys should round into form and make the best of their first hard win.

Tommy Joy, Textile's lanky outfielder and pitcher, had a big day with one hit, one run, one RBI, one error, one double, and a triple during his sojourn at the plate and was instrumental in scoring one of Textile's runs. His triple was a beauty.

Other heavy hitters on the local team were Ray Reynolds, flashy Lowell boy, who gave the fans a chance to yell in his first try to the platter by putting out a long two-bagger to the center field fence. While credited with one payable hit at shortstop, Ray was in the game early minutes and lost his head in the confusion of his first try to the platter by putting out a long two-bagger to the center field fence. BOYLE IS DETERMINED

Attitude Recalls Days of Furious Bouts With South Boston Johnny Downes

It has been many months since Philney Boyle, who is training for his bout with Willie Gradwell here on next Saturday night, has been in such a determined frame of mind. His determination recalls those days of the never-to-be-forgotten Boyle-Downes battles.

Boyle, trained for the Downes fight as if his very life depended upon the outcome, has been bitter rivals and their engagements always attracted record crowds to the ring. For Boyle and Gradwell minutes and lost his head in the confusion of his first try to the platter by putting out a long two-bagger to the center field fence. While credited with one payable hit at shortstop, Ray was in the game early minutes and lost his head in the confusion of his first try to the platter by putting out a long two-bagger to the center field fence.

Fighting after the bell, back-handed blows, elbows—in fact, everything but kicking, biting and throwing the water bucket featured those furious encounters. And each succeeding battle proved more exciting than the last. Boyle's attitude was so determined that he was ready to take a shot at Downes.

All this bitter rivalry came as the result of what one considered an unfair decision. Boyle, who still fully convinced that Gradwell had been present in their last encounter, is again training as if his life depended upon the outcome. Boyle is preparing for a vitriolic and strenuous night, with both sets for one of those old-time battles. While he has written to the boxing commission calling for a new set of officials in the coming battle, he's not going to take any chances and declares that the only official really needed will be a referee that can count ten.

Discussing the bout, Philney says: "I'm not offering any alibi and hollering for nothing. Even men who had money on Gradwell came to the after the bout and said I got a 'raw deal.' My manager has sent a letter to the boxing commission calling for different officials for the bout Saturday night. I want a man in there who can count ten, for I'm determined to knock out Gradwell and thereby eliminate any chance of a repetition of what happened before."

NEW YORK, April 14.—The weather man today slapped a damp and chilly blanket on the baseball fans of the country by predicting cloudy skies with probable showers for the opening of both major league seasons tomorrow.

Unusually lively contests in the Florida Cactus league and in the southern cities as the big league teams worked their way home, presaged a general interest which here fruit in crowds of 35,000 and 20,000 at Chicago and New York yesterday in the first preparatory games. As all teams stand on location awaiting the opening ceremonies the official government report announced its sour prediction.

Record Crowd Expected
DETROIT, April 14.—If the weather is right, one of the greatest crowds ever to attend a sporting event in Detroit will be jammed into Navin field at 3 o'clock tomorrow when the Tigers and Cleveland open the American league this season. This was the opinion of club officials who announced receipt of 50,000 requests for the 17,500 reserved seats.

Although no definite announcement had been made, Manager Cobb's pitching choice for the opener, is said to rest between Earl Whitehill, George Dauss and Bert Cole, with the odds favoring Whitehill's selection because of his better condition.

To establish the youth's nativity. The misunderstanding arose, according to the swimmer through his father, P. Weissmuller twice having failed of naturalization through inability to speak English.

Mr. Rathbone said in Washington that the case had been brought to his attention so that the United States Olympic team managers would be prepared if the question of Weissmuller's eligibility arose just before he was to participate in the games.

Johnny, holder of half a hundred world's swimming records says that he was born an American and had no intention ever to be anything else.

Chicago, April 14.—Johnny Weissmuller, America's greatest swimmer, was born in Chicago, and there can be no question of his eligibility for the Olympic swimming team, he said last night in commenting upon the investigation at Washington by Henry H. Rathbone, representative from Illinois.

Philadelphia, April 14.—William G. (Young) Stribling, the youthful light heavyweight boxer of Macon, Ga., must fight his way out of Chicago here tonight in a 10 round decision bout.

Stribling said he was in excellent condition and that his only regret was that his opponent was not Mike Neely, holder of the light heavyweight title.

The only thing that saved McTigue's title in New York was the fact that a decision was rendered. I could kick McTigue every night in the week," McEwan also appeared confident. He said he was "ready to meet the dope" and give the Georgia youth a good beating.

NAT. LEAGUE UMPIRES G. O. P. CONTROVERSY OVER IMMIGRATION

Pres. Heydler Issues Orders—Eleven Men on Staff for This Season

NEW YORK, April 14.—Strength of character, courage of conviction, fidelity of purpose and intelligence are necessary requisites for a successful umpire in the National league, according to President John A. Heydler. And on top of these sterling qualities he must possess executive capacity to run a game and bear the brunt of the criticism from contending players and spectators.

The successful National league umpire must live the life of a hermit apart from the friendships of the players and fans, Mr. Heydler points out. He must be a man without a country, home or haunt in the world of baseball. He must ride alone on the train, he must stay at a different hotel, he must keep aloft while in the baseball park and avoid all baseball assemblages.

President Heydler has a corps of 11 National league arbitrators who, in his belief, measure up to the highest standards. They include Robert D. Emslie, Henry O'Day, William J. Klem, Ernest C. Quigley, Charles B. Moran, William McCormick, Eugene "Bob" Hart, Charles P. Moran, Frank Wilson, Jack Powell and J. Monroe Sweeney. Louisville is the dean of the corps with a record of 30 continuous years of service with the National league. He was retired from active service last year and made a coach of umpires and assistant to President Heydler in an advisory capacity.

"Hank" O'Day has a record of a quarter of a century of service behind him. Before his days as an umpire he was a pitcher for the New York Giants and later manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Klem, a striking type of an umpire, served a thorough apprenticeship before joining the Heydler staff 19 years ago.

Quigley and Moran are versatile officials. The former is an authority in many branches of sport. He coaches St. Mary's, Kansas, football team and also referees gridiron as well as basketball games.

Ernest "Charlie" Moran gained renown as coach of the famous Centre college football team, where he developed the "Fraying Collared" into one of the most spectacular teams in the history of the college gridiron.

McCormick is a former player, having pastimed at third base as a member of "Pop" Anscombe's immortal small ball club of the Chicago White Stockings of three decades ago.

Hart is a product of the minor league diamonds, having served with the American association and the International league before coming to the big show, while Pomeroy came to the major league from the Southern association in 1922. Wilson graduated to the National league from the intercollegiate diamond.

Powell and Sweeney are newcomers to the Heydler wheel, the former having worked for a brief period last season while the latter will start his first season this year. Powell graduated to last company from the Michigan Quilts circuit and Sweeney from the Texas league.

Assignments For Tomorrow
NEW YORK, April 14.—Umpire assignments for the opening games in the National league tomorrow were announced today by President John A. Heydler as follows:
At Philadelphia: O'Day and McCormick.
At Cincinnati: Klem and Wilson.
At St. Louis: Moran, Pomeroy and Powell.
At New York: Quigley, Hart and Sweeney.

GIVE CIGARS TO VETERANS
Leo A. Spillane, Dept. Adjutant, Department of Massachusetts, the American Legion, says:
"The Elcho Cigar is a great favorite among the American Legion men. It has such a fine mild flavor, and we know its quality so well that we do not hesitate to give the Elcho Cigar to our disabled boys who are on the road to recovery as well as buy them for our Legion banquets. NEW PARISH HOUSE OF THE ELIOT UNION CHURCH

The new parish house of the Eliot Union Congregational church was formally dedicated yesterday afternoon at services held at 5 o'clock, led by the pastor, Rev. William B. Tutill, D.D. Its uses will be manifold and the building will fill a long-felt need in the activities of the church. It is complete in every detail and will be the community center of the parish, particularly for younger people, who enthusiastically awaited its completion. The house is adjacent to the church property in Favor street. It is of brick construction and has all the accommodations required in such buildings. The services of dedication were attended by several hundred of the church members and attendants. In addition to a sermon by Rev. Mr. Tutill there were addresses by Louis A. Olney, chairman of the board of trustees; Edwin D. Shaw, superintendent of the church school, and Rev. John M. Reis, pastor of the Portuguese congregation which will share in the use of the new building for its community activities. The church quartet, consisting of Mrs. Mary Jacques Perkins, soprano; Miss Mary Wetherall, contralto; Wesley

Boydton, tenor, and Willard Parkinson, bass, sang Dudley Buck's "Dedication Anthem" and Mrs. Perkins sang as a solo Raddick's "Bow Down Thine Ear." Rev. Mr. Tutill's address was upon the topic, "The Parish House Ideal" and in part he spoke as follows: "Parish houses are built in increasing numbers. The day is past when the live church is content to open its doors on Sunday and to keep them locked the other six days of the week. As Jesus' ministry was manifold, touching life at every point, so the institution of which he is the heart must carry on a manifold ministry today. The parish house ideal is not new. There is abundant warrant for it in such Scripture as this: 'And whatsoever ye do in word or deed do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him.' 'A religion that is not an everyday religion has no power to save the world. 'First: Everyday tasks need religion. They must necessarily become tedious drudgery unless performed with religious motive and purpose. When in thought and purpose a man links up his day's work with the common good of his fellows he is saved from losing his soul and his work is saved from being half done. 'The so-called recreations, amusements and pleasures of life invariably become cheap, tawdry, extreme and positively profane without religious standards and religious idealism to regulate and purify them. 'Second: As every life needs religion so it is equally true that religion need to be exercised in the every-day life. Many a church has died because it has lost contact with the life of the community. To keep vital, potent, and interesting it must be set to work on

BODY OF HUGO STINNES
CREMATED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, April 14. (By the Associated Press.)—Cool miners from the Ruhr today carried the body of Hugo Stinnes, late German industrial leader, from his villa in Grunewald to the crematory to the accompaniment of melodies played by their own band, while a miners' chorus alternately chanted dirges and sang Westphalian folksongs. Two of the numbers played were the wedding march from Tannhauser and the Rhine Maiden song, both of which were favorites with Herr Stinnes.

ACCIDENT BOARD
CASE REVIEWED

The case of George Dery is in process of review today before the industrial accident board at city hall. Dery was awarded compensation for injuries he received to have been received while at work at the filtration plant in 1923, and the compensation has been stopped on the ground that the disability no longer warrants payments. Four doctors, one of them for the state board, are listed as witnesses to be called by the board in connection with the case.

WENT DOWN WITH THE LADDER

David Ramsay of 1401 Gorham street, an employee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, took a tumble shortly before noon today when the ladder he was working on was blown down, throwing him to the ground. the tasks of the world. It must be harnessed to the heavy loads of life. 'How is this ideal to be realized? Let no one think that everyday religion means that there is no further need of holy days and holy places. Quite the opposite is true. If all our so-called secular concerns and pleasures are to be diffused with religion we must have more regard for the holy day and the holy place. If we propose to lengthen our ropes we must strengthen our stakes. For the manifold ministry to which the parish house ideal calls us we must develop the finest Christian intelligence and consecration of the most genuine type."

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

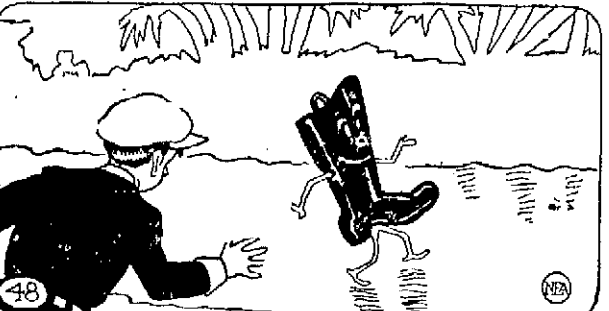

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

As soon as all of the rubber bands had disappeared Jack returned to where he had left the tube. But the tube was gone. Jack didn't like being left alone in the strange land of Rubber and he was beginning to get worried when a large rubber boot walked up and stood gazing at Jack.

"What are you looking for?" asked the boot. "My old friend the tube," replied the little adventurer. "Well, follow me and I'll take you to it," continued the boot. And the boot started walking along in a very funny manner. Jack and Pip trailed closely along behind it.

Finally the trio came to the bank of a queer looking river. "We'll have to cross to the other side," explained the boot. "Oh, I don't want to get all wet, and there is no bridge," said Jack. "Don't need a bridge," said the boot, and walked right out on top of the river. (Continued.)

COOLIDGE AND MELLON CONFER

Administration Preparing to Renew Counter Offensive
Against Fight on Mellon

President Holds Lengthy Conferences With Sec. Mellon
and Sen. Watson*

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The administration is preparing to renew with increased vigor its counter-offensive against the fight on Secretary Mellon in the senate.

President Coolidge conferred at length today with Mr. Mellon and with Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the special committee which is investigating the internal revenue bureau. It was indicated Senator Watson would make another speech in the senate, probably tomorrow, setting forth in greater detail the argument for discontinuance of the inquiry.

Other senators on the republican side are expected to join in the attack in support of the president. Coolidge's charge that the revenue bureau committee has not kept within its proper rights and his warning that the time has come for the senate to "return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land." Whether Secretary Mellon will take any further direct part in the argument remains to be developed.

In renewing his request for action on his resolution to end the revenue bureau investigation, Senator Watson will reply to the statement issued last night by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who suggested employment by the committee of Francis J. Heney, Mr. Watson takes the position that nothing is to be gained by the inquiry proposed by Governor Pinchot into prohibition enforcement under Secretary Mellon.

The general question of the strategy to be employed in the next phase of the battle was discussed at today's conference between the president, Secretary Mellon and Senator Watson. Afterward, Senator Watson said no definite conclusions were reached. He hastened to the capital to report the views of the president to the conference of republican senators which met prior to the convening of the senate.

Should an agreement be reached by the republicans to proceed with the investigation bill, Senator Watson indicated he would make no move to bring up his resolution today.

ST. PATRICK'S RECTORY

Many Visitors See and Admire
New and Well Appointed
Building

An all-day procession of visitors took occasion to inspect the new St. Patrick's church rectory yesterday, and expressed gratification at the simple but home-like atmosphere of the new building. The clergy were assisted in caring for the visitors by William B. Collier of Boston, the architect who designed the building.

The various appointments of the structure were explained and while there was general appreciation of the layout as a whole, the dining room, kitchen and recreation room came in for special mention. The dining room, as was stated in architect's description of the building, is reminiscent of the refectories of the monasteries of Italy, especially those in and around Florence. It is treated with stone walls, the floor and beamed ceiling. The windows of this room, and also the doors in the built-in china cabinets, are of leaded glass.

The recreation room, on the third floor is designed as a ship's hold, with curved oak walls, horizontal joints, oak decked beams on the ceiling, side ribs and knee braces. The lighting fixtures of the above room were designed from antique examples of candle lanterns. The future furnishings of this room will be nautical in feeling and will embrace such features as a binnacle, chart desk, life preservers, ship's models, cutlasses, muskets, etc. The floor of this room will be finished in silver gray and the ceiling, which represents the deck beams, is painted in jade green. Jade green hangings will be used around the windows.

Upon viewing these rooms in their emptiness, one can realize how satisfactory to the eye they will be when furnished.

The kitchen has all that modern convenience can supply in the line of equipment and the room in itself is all that can be desired.

The ranges in the kitchen are of the so-called French type, universally used in hotels and restaurants. These are erected upon a brick hearth and are covered by a steel hood connected to a vent in the chimney. Refrigerators are of the automatic type and are installed as follows: The main refrigerator in the passage just off the kitchen, to take care of all perishable material delivered; a smaller unit in the serving pantry and another smaller unit in a closet just off the recreation room on the third floor.

On the level of the second floor of the main portion, a door is provided which gives access to the roof over the service portion and this is reached by a sort of roof garden with a pergola above. This will later be screened with bamboo screens, vines growing about it and a small fountain in the center will add to the beauty of this charming resting place.

As the household effects have not been installed as yet and as there remains some finishing work to be done, it is not known definitely just when the priests of the parish, Rev. Dr. McGarry, Rev. James A. Supple, Dr. D. Rev. Joseph A. Corlin and Rev. Thomas J. McLaughlin, will formally take up their abode in the new residence.

LAWYER ENO SPEAKS

Delivers Able Lecture on Constitution Before League
of Catholic Women

The civics lecture course under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women was brought to a close in Liberty hall yesterday afternoon when Arthur L. Eno of this city, delivered an able address on "Our Constitution and Its Meaning." Miss Eva Blanchard had general supervision of the meeting.

It was announced by Dr. Edmund T. Slaghter, league president, that a concert and dance will be held in Liberty hall on May 2. This will be in charge of Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye.

Previous to the introduction of the speaker, musical selections were given by Mrs. Henry Archambault and Miss Lucille Russell.

In beginning his address, Mr. Eno took occasion to point out the fact that the League of Catholic Women is living up to the great tasks and duties of the woman suffrage movement, by helping its members to become good citizens and teaching them to vote intelligently and earnestly. It has been said that the war has broken up old tendencies and peaceful methods. The people of America forget that they live in a country of peace and order. They have not learned the lesson taught by soviet-ridden Russia, Mr. Eno declared. There can be no peace in anarchy and socialism. The constitution of the United States has founded a standard by which our nation, our great nation, has thrived and become the richest and most powerful country in the world. But it has taken much time and thought to produce the constitution by which we are governed.

The constitution of the United States grew out of the limited power by which the colonies, after they had won their independence from England, allowed their continental congress to decide the important questions of the United States. Each colony had a separate type of government—there was no strong central government. Greedy eyes of European countries were watching the lack of union, Mr. Eno continued, and were waiting their chance to annex this new little independent country to their dominions. This state of affairs was serious, but a remedy was soon found which eliminated all fear of disaster in this newly-born republic—the articles of the confederation. These resulted in a strong central government.

After a convention at Annapolis, a constitutional convention was called at Philadelphia. All the states responded except Rhode Island. George Washington was elected president and James Madison, secretary. Three important questions were to be solved by this convention: First, the house of representatives was to be chosen on the basis of population; second, the question of slavery; third, the question of commerce. Washington's calmness and Franklin's wit added to the liveliness of the convention. The articles of the constitution were drawn up and signed by 39 members of the convention. Each state adopted this constitution. The constitution was made up of a preamble and seven articles. The preamble introduces the power and reasons for the constitution. The constitution created three departments—legislative, executive, and judicial, which had the power to enforce laws, and judicial, which had the right to judge the laws.

The speaker then described in detail the rules governing and election of members of congress and outlined the duties and powers of the president, vice president, the supreme court and other governmental agencies. Continuing, the speaker said:

"This constitution has taught us to be loyal citizens; to believe and to improve ourselves; to cast our ballots intelligently and to teach our fellow citizens to do so also; to use our influence to see that the courts give support and protection; to believe that our government is the best created; to be minute-men to the constitution—always ready to do our part in preserving the constitution for which our forefathers gave their blood. Patriotism must be a part of our religion."

SEARCH FOR HUSBAND OF QUICK ON THE DRAW PRINCE ROLAND BONA- PARTE DIES IN PARIS

CHICAGO, April 14.—Chicago police today were searching for the husband of the young woman whose body was found Saturday concealed under debris in a forest preserve. The supposed murder victim has been identified as Mrs. Anna De Goy, 28, married last November, who had not been seen since February 25. The husband, James De Goy, also has been missing.

Evidence indicated that the body was hidden in the forest only a few days before its discovery, although the woman is believed to have been slain about the time of her disappearance.

A man reported to have been seen several times in the forest recently, is said to answer the description of the missing husband.

PARIS, April 14. (By the Associated Press).—Prince Roland Bonaparte, one of the best friends of America among all the descendants of the family of Napoleon the Great, died today after a long illness from Bright's disease. The only son of Pierre Bonaparte, whose father was Napoleon's brother, Prince Roland was in order of precedence the head of the Bonaparte family. Because of a marriage dispensing to Napoleon, Roland's grandfather and his issue, were cut off from possible succession to the throne. Prince Roland, however, was never seriously concerned with royal aspirations, as he was an earnest republican. He was born in Paris, May 18, 1858.

BOSTON EDITOR KILLED PINCHOT RAPS SEN. WATSON

M. W. Brown Ran for Train,
Missed Hold, Trucks Passed
Over Him, Severing Body

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, April 14.—Mayor W. Brown, 150 Pleasant street, editor of a column of the Boston Globe, was instantly killed this morning here, shortly after 9 o'clock.

He ran for a train and missing his hold on the forward part of the last car, the rear trucks passed over him, severing his body. Death was instantaneous. He has been a resident of the town for about eight years, and leaves a widow.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 14.—Governor Pinchot admits that he suggested Francis J. Heney as counsel for the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau. The governor said last night he made the suggestion during a conversation with Senator Cousins regarding prohibition enforcement. He declared he had no "personal purpose or animus in the matter, but that what he was after was to 'get the law enforced.'"

Governor Pinchot declared that Senator Watson in his references during an address Saturday to prohibition enforcement had "overshot himself" and that "every self-respecting, law-abiding American must resent the spectacle of the United States senator publicly confessing that he does not expect the constitution to be obeyed."

The governor said it was "high time to put an end to the corruption and inefficiency which exists in the federal enforcement service. He added that "since that service will not enforce the law, the people are entitled to know the reason why."

MANY CONFERENCES BUT NO AGREEMENT

The working agreement between the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company and the various locals of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees, expires at midnight April 30 and, from present indications, no new agreement will be ready to take its place.

Conferences between the joint conference board of the union and trustees of the road are being held several times a week but, according to Pres. Thomas J. Powers of the local union, both sides are merely marking time. The wage question and several matters concerning working conditions are now under discussion with the trustees taking one stand and union delegates the opposite.

No definite information concerning the wage scale requested by the union has been made public but it is generally believed that a substantial increase has been requested. The position of the trustees is also unknown, but it is believed they take the same stand as last year—that the financial condition of the road does not permit any further increases in pay at this time.

In the past, the wage question has been settled by an arbitration board consisting of one member named by the trustees, one by the union, and a third by the two first named members. Neither side is anxious to arbitrate this question, but it is believed arbitration will be the only solution of the difficulty.

The status of the unions after midnight, Apr. 30, if a new agreement is not signed by that time, is questioned. Under the old state agreement which was signed two years ago, the yearly agreement continued until a new agreement was signed. Under the new agreement several of the union presidents may there is no such continuation of the working agreement and each local may consider itself free to do as it pleases until a new agreement is signed.

LOWELL VETERAN ELK TO BE GUEST OF HONOR

As an honor to Dr. William H. Downs, senior past exalted ruler of Lowell Lodge, No. 87, B.P.O. Elks, who headed the local lodge in 1890-91, it has been suggested to the grand lodge convention committee that special attention be paid to him at the annual convention to be held in Boston this summer.

Providence lodge has entered Herbert M. Shove of the Rhode Island metropolis as a contender for the doclor's honors as senior exalted ruler among New England Elks. Mr. Shove served Providence lodge at the same time Dr. Downs served in Lowell. It has been suggested through the Eastern Elks, a publication devoted to the news and interests of the order, that the two be made special guests of the convention committee.

Dr. Downs who is today as chipper as the day he joined the Elks was not at all shaken when he learned Providence could boast of an old-timer that ties his record. "I can beat him at billiards, bowling or checkers" was the old-timer's reply.

At the installation of officers in Association last week Dr. Downs served as acting grand trustee on the official suite of the installing officer. He was presented by E. E. Richard, T. Robinson with a handsome bouquet of flowers. The old-timer took his pen in hand and wrote a neat verse of acceptance which follows:

"It's nice to have this fine bouquet
While I'm alive and laughing
And not to wait 'til that sad day
To have it on my coffin."

Dr. James Chalmers, a leading authority on boys' work in Massachusetts, will speak tomorrow before the members of Lowell Rotary club, following the weekly dinner at the Boys' club on Thorton street. The speaker's subject will be "The Man of Tomorrow."

Mayor Donovan is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Julia Sullivan of 32 Green street, Wall River, asking aid in locating Mary, wife of Thomas Shean. Secretary Glushen will turn the letter over to the police department.

Jurors now serving at the spring session of the superior civil court here received their first week's pay this morning from County Treasurer Chas. Halford. He will make weekly visits to the court house during the session.

Miss Kathleen Dulligan and Miss Margaret Coyle were today added to the temporary staff employed in the office of the board of assessors at city hall.

BIG FIRE IN EVERETT

Brush Factory Destroyed—Flames Spread to Dwelling Nearby—Aid Summoned

200 Families Hastily Removed Household Goods—Boston and Lynn Send Aid

EVERETT, April 14.—Fire today destroyed the Conard brush factory at Tilton and West streets, and spread to a dozen dwellings in the vicinity. Fanned by a strong west wind, the flames threatened to sweep through a large district.

Two Hundred Families
Two hundred families hastily removed their household goods. Flying embers were constantly setting fire to roofs. The district is thickly settled, largely with two and three-family houses. Help was sent from the fire departments of Boston, Lynn and other cities.

The burning area was bounded by Tilton and Cross streets, the Revere bench boulevard and the marsh land along the Malden river.

At 2 p. m. the fire appeared to be under control, although a number of roofs were above and burning back yard rubbish was being scattered by the wind.

At that time, the brush factory was the only building which had been destroyed. Lieut. William B. Parker of the Everett department broke an arm when he tripped over a hose.

HOUSE IN STREET CUTS OFF TRAFFIC

All traffic in Gorham street was cut off at a point beyond the court house today due to moving operations involving a three story tenement block from its former location at Mann square to a point in Walnut street. This noon the house loomed like a mountain directly in the middle of Gorham street, its further progress impeded by the absence of a permit to take down a fence at the corner of Walnut street to allow it to approach its new site. A shuttle car was operated between the square and the junction of Gorham and South streets, with Billerica cars starting from a point a hundred yards beyond.

Frank Good of Cambridge Will Address Legion Meeting This Evening

Trades and labor unionists are solidly behind the membership raid being conducted by the American Legion which ends on April 15. A special meeting of all legionnaires has been called for tonight and coffee and sandwiches will be served to all who help form the mess line. Commander Colin C. MacDonald wants to hear further reports from the various membership team captains and enthusiasm is expected to reach great bounds.

The principal speaker at tonight's meeting will be Frank Good of Cambridge, looked upon by many as the

OLD 6TH ASSOCIATION

Civil War Survivors Plan Annual Meeting and Election Patriots Day

Final arrangements were made this forenoon for the 63d annual reunion of the "Old Sixth association," composed of Civil War veterans who served in the old 6th Mass. Regt. These veterans whose march in Baltimore precipitated the historic riot there, will meet at Memorial hall on next Saturday, April 14th. There are 26 living members of the association and it is expected that about half that number will be in attendance. The others are too feeble or too far removed from the locality to venture the trip. They will send their felicitations to comrades of other days to prove that, as in '61, "the spirit is willing" though the body may now be weak.

Capt. J. N. Jones of Lawrence, who last week passed his 88th milestone along the march of life, was in town this morning making arrangements for the affair. He talked with L. A. Derby of the Sons of Veterans, and completed all preliminary matters in connection therewith. The business session and election of officers will take place in the forenoon and a dinner will be served at noon by the Sons of Veterans. Also Jay of West Acton, president of the association, will occupy the chair.

There are but three Lowell men left who served in the old Sixth and they are members of the association, which has been meeting in Lowell every year for ten years or more and intends to continue meeting here until Father Time shall have caused the sounding of taps for the last survivor.

Col. Albert Plinder of Company H and Capt. Dickeerman and Julius Adams of Company A are all that are left in Lowell. Companies C and D also went from Lowell and it was in Company D that Ladd and Whitney served. These two companies have not a survivor left.

RADIO MESSAGE FROM McMILLAN

BRISTOL, Conn., April 14.—A radio message from the McMILLAN expedition on the Bowdoin which has wintered in the Arctic regions was received by Everett Sutton at Port Angeles, Wash., yesterday and by him forwarded to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mix of this city, parents of Don Mix, the radio operator of the expedition. MRS. HAYES PLEADS GUILTY

Admits Forging Endorsement of Chas. M. Schwab on $25,000 Note

Taking of Testimony on Forgery Charges Was to Have Begun Today

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mrs. Myrtle Bowman Hayes pleaded guilty today to forging the endorsement of Charles M. Schwab on a $25,000 note.

Mrs. Hayes was indicted for forgery. After several delays, the case came to trial last week, and the taking of testimony was to have begun this forenoon.

When the case was called, Assistant District Attorney Ward informed the court that counsel for Mrs. Hayes wished to offer a plea of guilty to attempted forgery. To continue the trial on a forgery charge, Mr. Ward said would require a long time.

The court accepted the plea, announcing that sentence would be imposed on April 28. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

Mrs. Hayes was indicted on May 3, 1923, on the specific charge of endorsing Mr. Schwab's name on the following note dated Jan. 5, 1923:

"Sixty days after date I promise to pay to ourselves $25,000, payable at Standard Concrete Steel Co., 201 West 23rd street, New York city."

"M. B. Hayes."

SUPERIOR COURT CASES

Defense Resists Case at Conclusion of Testimony by Plaintiffs

The peculiar condition of counsel for the defense resting his case upon the testimony of the plaintiff obtained in superior court here today before Judge Irwin in the double action of tort brought by Eugene A. Jasmala and Mary Duhe of Lowell against Christopher McManey of Lawrence. The cases grew out of an automobile collision on the Lawrence boulevard near the first street car barns in October, 1920. The jury took the cases at 11.30 o'clock.

When Atty. Dennis J. Murphy for the plaintiffs rested, Francis D. Harrigan of Boston, counsel for the defendant, stated to the court that he also rested without the presentation of any witnesses. He claimed that the plaintiffs had established no case against his client.

The plaintiffs each seek to recover $3000 as compensation for bodily injuries alleged to have been received in the accident and they charge the operator of the McManey car with negligence. The defense argued that the man driving the McManey machine at the time was not in McManey's employ and that, therefore, the defendant was not liable.

Just before the noon hour a jury was empaneled in the case of Elizabeth and Joseph M. Nottanday against the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co., an action of tort involving injuries alleged to have been sustained by Mrs. Nottanday as a result of a fall upon a slippery car step on Jan. 26, 1923. Francis M. Qua for the plaintiffs and Trull, Wier & O'Donoghue for the railroad.

IN SECRET SESSION

Senate Considers Japanese Exclusion Provision of the Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON, April 14.—On motion of Senator Lodge, the senate went into executive session today to consider the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill.

Because of the delicacy of the international question involved, Mr. Lodge took the position that the debate should not proceed in the open.

Japan has made a protest against the exclusion provisions, couched in unusual vigorous terms, but republican senators generally appeared to believe today that an exclusion clause would be adopted. The house approved a similar provision Saturday by a vote of more than 4 to 1.

After an executive session lasting three-quarters of an hour, Senator Lodge withdrew his motion to consider the matter in executive session and the discussion then proceeded in open session.

"Crushes" Ambitions
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Japan is protesting against enactment by congress of an immigration law with a Japanese exclusion clause. Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee declared in a statement today, because it "crushes" her ambitions to possess Hawaii by colonization.

BOY ALLOWED TO INTERVENE

Judge Permits Russell William Thaw, 13, to Intervene in Case

Thaw's Entrance Into Court Impressive—Dressed in Black—His Hair Gray

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Russell William Thaw, claimed to be the 13-year-old son of Harry K. Thaw, today was allowed to intervene through a guardian, in the Thaw insanity proceedings which began in common pleas court today.

Judge John Menaghan, in permitting the boy to intervene, announced he could do so not through his mother, but through a guardian, Thomas E. Cogoli, of counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, was then appointed guardian during the proceedings.

While the formalities of drawing a jury were arranged, Evelyn Nesbit remained in the office of William A. Gray, her counsel, in a nearby office building. Mrs. Thaw, the 32-year-old mother of Thaw, was at a hotel waiting to be summoned if necessary.

Thaw's entrance into the small courtroom to face the jury was impressive. Dressed in black, his portly form and gray hair gave him the appearance of a well-to-do professional man.

When one prospective juror under examination said that without hearing the evidence he would pronounce him sane, Thaw nodded vigorously.

Petition for the trial by jury to test his present mental condition, was made by Thaw himself. His mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw of Pittsburgh, who is "committee of his person," joined in the petition and was here today to attend the trial.

Nearly 18 years ago, Thaw shot and killed Stanford White in New York. Since then, many legal battles have been fought in his behalf.

The jury was completed shortly after noon and the court took a recess. No women were accepted. The jurors range in age from 25 years to 75. Two are negroes and seven are married.

Two New York detectives sat in the courtroom. Their presence gave rise to a report that if Thaw is released, they will have him detained to answer New York indictments charging him with whipping Frederick Gump of Kansas City, in a New York hotel.

Denied Paternity
PITTSBURGH, April 14.—Harry K. Thaw, testifying in his suit for divorce against Evelyn Nesbit Thaw here 10 years ago, denied that he was the father of William Russell Thaw, according to the records of the case filed by the mother with Judge Joseph C. Bon. The court granted Thaw a decree in divorce at that time. Evelyn did not contest the proceedings.

BONUS BILL PRIORITY OVER TAX MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The senate finance committee voted today to give the soldier bonus bill priority over the tax reduction measure on the senate calendar.

Chairman Smoot said he probably would ask the senate to take up the bonus measure Wednesday or Thursday, and predicted it would be passed by Saturday.

The revenue bill will be called up immediately after disposition of the bonus measure, the committee chairman said.

SENATE RENEWS WAR OVER SEC. MELLON AND INVESTIGATIONS

Sen. Watson After Conference With Pres. Coolidge and Sec. Mellon Says President Did Not Intend to Strike at Any of the Inquiries Except That Against Mellon

WASHINGTON, April 14.—With both sides newly fortified by entrenchments thrown up over the week-end, the senate today resumed its war over Secretary Mellon and the future of the congressional investigation program.

Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, chairman of the special committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, told his colleagues and democratic leaders privately after a conference with President Coolidge and Mr. Mellon that the president had not intended by his message last week, to strike at any of the senate inquiries except that directed against Mr. Mellon.

Administration opposition to the employment of Francis J. Heney as special counsel for the revenue bureau committee would be continued, Mr. Watson said, regardless of the fate of the democratic move to make that employment legal by a formal senate resolution.

When the interpretation placed on the president's message by Senator Watson was communicated to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, the latter declared the president ought in that case to send a supplemental message explaining his exact purpose.

Watson Not to Press Resolution
Senator Watson said after the White House conference he would not press immediately his resolution to end the revenue bureau inquiry and that he saw no occasion now for a reply to the statements made public last night by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

TRIAL OF CONG. LANGLEY APRIL 28

FOR PLEBISCITE OF FILIPINO PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Chairman Fairchild of the house insular committee, announced today that he soon would introduce a bill for a plebiscite of the Filipino people on independence at the end of 25 years and the election by the Filipinos of their governor pending such a plebiscite.

Drafting of the measure has been virtually completed but before its introduction, Chairman Fairchild will confer with President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks.

The bill will provide for a resident American commissioner in the Philippines with jurisdiction over questions affecting relations between the United States and the islands and over the islands' debts.

THREE BRUSH FIRES CALL OUT FIREMEN

Three brush and grass fires assumed such threatening proportions in the city today as to call for fire department aid and one necessitated the sounding of a bell alarm.

Engine 7 answered a telephone alarm at 9.15 a. m. for a grass fire in the rear of St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street. At 9.35 a brush fire at Moody and Seventh avenue called the Pawtucketville apparatus and at 12.25 a telephone alarm was followed by a bell alarm from Box 521 for a fast-spreading fire in the woods off Circuit avenue in South Lowell.

Pastor Rosselle has an established reputation among the Baptist preachers of New England. He is at present minister of a parish that is one of the largest of the Protestant faith in the state.

USE BREAD

When cooking cabbage or cauliflower, drop a piece of hard, stale bread into the water just as it starts to boil and let it stay in for about 10 minutes before you skim it out. Much of the objectionable odor will have been absorbed by it.

BABY TALK

When, upon that momentous occasion, one of the Mann twins began to utter a few spitting words such as "And this is the point of the story: Why will parents, who seem to want their children to talk clearly and normally throughout their lives, start them off with incoherent baby talk chatter?"

What really happens is this: The child has to learn two types of speech, normal and baby talk. The child's mind is confused. The child is actually given definite difficulties to surmount. The ear becomes accustomed to this chatter-patter, and the mind absorbs it. The task of teaching a child to talk well is a sufficiently serious one to merit careful consideration of the baby talk habit. Talk to your child directly and simply. Cut out the baby talk.

IRISH MUSICAL COMEDY

Singing and Dancing Comedy to be Presented Easter Monday Evening

"Echoes of Erin," the Irish singing and dancing comedy to be presented at the Auditorium on Easter Monday evening by the Mathew Temperance Institute under the joint direction of Mr. Andrew McCarthy and Mrs. Jeanie Conway, has many features which place it on a much higher plane than the general run of amateur musical productions. The high reputation of the directors as specialists in their respective lines, the excellent variety of the program itself are but a few of the interest-compelling items connected with the new Mathew offering.

After many weeks of rehearsal Mr. McCarthy has the large company of young men and women trained to the minute and prepared to render Irishland's beautiful melodies in capital style. Mr. Conway has labored painstakingly with the dancers, and the program will be filled with shining examples of the success which has attended her efforts. No local production to date has contained as many skillfully trained dancing specialists. A glance through the most sheep-penned "Echoes of Erin" is indeed a show in a thousand. Among those who will perform are: Little Mary Conway, Andrew and Louise Carr, Miss Mary MacFarland, Miss Madeline McLaughlin, Miss Cecelia Daw, Miss Alice Dillon, Miss Anna and Margaret Devine, Miss Nancy Swift, William Kelly, Daniel Brennan, Daniel Sullivan, William Hincley, Patrick McGuire, Walter Flynn, and a number of other clever singers and dancers who will complete a most delightful program. A number of the young people listed above are making their first appearance on the Auditorium stage, but they are possessed, one and all, of unusual talent, and will make their more experienced companions on the program look to their laurels.

A rehearsal for the entire company will be held in the Mathew quarters tonight and the entire program will be gone through by the directors. Other rehearsals will follow and the production will be in prime shape by the date of presentation.

LOWELL COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS MEET

The monthly meeting of the Lowell Commercial Travelers was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, Saturday evening. Senior Counselor Chester Cornack presided and a large amount of routine business was transacted.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary of the organization was held in an adjoining room with Mrs. Chester Cornack in the chair and a list of business was disposed of in record time.

Following the meetings, a real surprise was given the members by Harry Evans, chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Councilors Lohman and Pearson, when a real old time pancake supper was served.

AT THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH

In the Immaculate Conception church last night, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," the famous musical masterpiece by Dubois, was sung impressively under the direction of Mr. James S. King. The church was filled to capacity when Rev. William J. Stanton, O.M.I., ascended the pulpit to deliver an eloquent sermon on the significance of the seven last words.

Mrs. Hugh Walker was at the organ and the soloists were as follows: Miss Florence McManus, Mrs. Mary Mooney, Miss Brusseau, James S. King, Joseph Egan, William L. Cookin, Thomas Kelly and Mr. Jacques. The evening's program opened with the singing of "The Palm" by Joseph M. Kelly. During benediction, Mrs. Alice Darcy Delmore sang Schindler's "O Salutaris" while the entire choir rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria" composed by Helen du Silva.

GETTING THINNER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done, and Done Right Quick, Too

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men, women and children are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile right now for McEly's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which any druggist will tell you are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste, and because it often upsets the stomach.

McEly's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 50 cents a box. Ask Lippert's, Green's Drug Store, A. W. Davis & Co., P. A. Howard, or any live pharmacist anywhere—Advise McEly's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

ROD HAS GIFT THAT MEANS SUCCESS

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
(N.Y.E.A. Service Writer)
HOLLYWOOD, April 14.—A young man who can break every log in the decaying, dry his mother and kill Nita Naldi, as he did in "The Ten Commandments" and yet retain the sympathy of the just and unjust in diverse audiences—such a young man, Rod La Roque, is bound to be one of the screen's anointed.

Rod has the gift. Why it should so long have been overlooked for important roles, especially since he has been on the stage since boyhood and in films for years, is one of those mysteries by which producers move, their wondrous to perform.

La Roque has had a secure niche. His work has been sound. He has been a studio favorite. But with his performance as the bad brother in Cecil De Mille's big opus he suddenly forged into the vanguard of movie men most talked about. He has excited consuming curiosity among women. Women critics and interviewers, who help set the style in leading men, are raving over him.

Rod takes it quite calmly with his lie-man grin, which is neither fatuous nor cynical, as if to say, "Let's laugh this off together."

And that is his characteristic manner, off screen as well as on. A refusal to take himself too seriously, a dread that he might be considered over-sentimental, a proper self-esteem which never becomes pompous, a frank, generous, but disciplined ego.

La Roque is one of Hollywood's most eligible young bachelors. But he's no boulevardier. No top. He doesn't parade himself at the cafes, at the beach, on the links. His name isn't bandied about with pseudo-romance. He lives unostentatiously with his mother and sister.

He knows the value of keeping something of one's vital nature always in reserve of being somewhat inscrutable. He has built his actor's technique upon that discretion. In "The Ten Commandments," he pointed out, much of his acting was with back to the camera so that he left left for the high dramatic spots sufficient emphasis. "The full impact of your powers," he says, "should be reserved for the high occasions of life and play-acting, not frittered away. For ordinary occasions, keep something back." The perception, that, of the long distance runner rather than the sprinter. And Rod La Roque's steady plugging has been paced by that philosophy. Undoubtedly, too, it has been responsible for slow appreciation of his full talents.

SISTER MARY'S BEST RECIPES

HOT CROSS BUNS
No Easter breakfast is complete without its hot cross buns. They can be all made up ready for the oven Saturday night and popped in and baked, while the coffee is boiling. One and one-half cups scalded milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 yeast cake dissolved in 1/2 cup lukewarm water,

1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup currants, flour.

Mix milk, salt and sugar. When lukewarm add dissolved yeast cake and about two cups of flour. Beat well and let rise one hour. Add eggs well beaten, butter melted, cinnamon and flour to knead. Add currants and knead until elastic. Put in a bowl, cover with a clean cloth and let stand over night. In the morning shape in small balls, cut a cross on the top of each with a knife and let rise to double their bulk. Put them in a warm place and they will rise quickly. Bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. When nearly done brush tops with a sirup of one tablespoon milk and two of sugar boiled one minute. Dredge the cross with granulated sugar and finish baking. Serve warm.

STUFFED EGGS

Stuffed eggs would make a seasonable and unusual first course for the Easter dinner.

Four eggs, 2 tablespoons anchovy paste, 4 boned sardines, 4 tablespoons salt and pepper, few drops onion juice, few grains mustard.

Put eggs in a pan of cold water to more than cover them. Cover pan and bring to the boiling point. Remove to the side of the fire and let stand half an hour without boiling. Remove from hot water and plunge at once into cold water to cool.

When cool remove shells and cut each egg in half crosswise.

Put yolks, anchovy paste, sardines, mustard and onion juice in a bowl and work smooth with a fork, adding lemon juice to make moist. Season with salt and pepper and beat in oil until thick and smooth. Fill yolks with mixture, piling the yolk mixture up above the whites. Sprinkle with paprika and serve on a bed of shredded lettuce. One half egg should be served to each person.

declared Mr. Killam recently, "but I am indebted to that and that alone for the full recovery of my health and strength after nearly two years of suffering. Indigestion played on me so persistently that a feeling of discomfort and utter weariness stayed with me all the time. Rheumatism also attacked my legs and feet, and my strength declined to just about the lowest point of my recollection, threatening me, apparently, with a low sickness."

HOT SPRINGS POLICE CHIEF SHOT TO DEATH

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 14.—Oscar Sullivan, chief of police, was shot and killed last night and the police early today arrested Hubert Coates, known as an itinerant gambler, whose residence is divided between Kansas City, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff and other sections.

Chief Sullivan is said to have told Coates not to gambler as he would run him out of town. Few persons were on the street when the men met, and no eye witnesses have been found. Coates escaped in the motor car he was driving when he met the chief. He gave himself up a few hours after the shooting.

PRESIDENTIAL BOOM FOR GOVERNOR SMITH

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—Every indication that a presidential boom for Governor Smith will be launched at the democratic state convention here tomorrow, was given today in pre-convention gossip at the Capitol and other gathering places of the delegates.

Governor Smith will say nothing regarding either prospective boom or the talk which he is to give at the convention which is to be held in Harmonus Bleeker hall, Albany's largest auditorium. Whether the governor will make any reference to national affairs is problematical, although the general belief here is that he will confine himself to state issues.

Senate Renews War Over Sec. Mellon and Investigations

publican party, because it was in control of both houses of congress.

Wants to Stay with "Low Body"

There had been no "meane" over the political fall of Denby or Daugherty, said Senator Heflin, but "in Mellon you touch the man who holds the strong-box—in a presidential election year." He suggested it was strange Edgo should be seeking re-election to such a "low standing" body.

"We hope to improve it," interjected Senator Edgo.

"There will be an improvement in New Jersey," returned the Alabama senator. "New Jersey is due to go democratic this year."

The deduction that Senator Couzens had been read out of the party for opposing the Mellon plan was drawn by Senator Heflin and by Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, who cited a recent suggestion by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, that former Secretary Denby return to Michigan and run for the senate.

MOMENTOUS QUESTIONS BEFORE U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Momentous questions confronted the organization of the senate today when they went into conference to discuss a course of action.

Their principal task was presented by the pending Japanese exclusion amendment to the senate immigration bill, on which an agreement was sought despite the feeling of leaders that they decided to support or oppose the proposal it would be adopted when it reached a vote.

In addition, however, they had before them the issues developing from President Coolidge's vigorous protest against the trend of the investigation of the internal revenue bureau, which has brought the question of all senate investigations of executive departments into sharp relief with an open breach between that chamber and the White House threatened.

Another problem that was pressing for consideration was the matter of precedence for soldier bonus or revenue legislation, and behind that lay the crowded condition of the calendar generally with farm relief and other important measures requiring attention.

The Japanese exclusion amendment, similar to provisions of the Johnson bill, passed Saturday by the house, went over for action until next week.

The organization republicans already have made clear their stand with President Coolidge on the investigation question and have begun a counter-offensive against the democratic-republican insurgent coalition which is assailing the executive's position. Senator Watson of Indiana, republican "wheelhorse" and chairman of the committee investigating the internal revenue bureau, has given notice that he intends to press for action on his resolution calling for discharge of the committee while democratic leaders are preparing to seek adoption of a resolution authorizing the committee to employ counsel at the senate's expense.

The senate finance committee has reported both the revenue and bonus bills, but had not decided over the week-end which to put forward.

Japanese Comment

TOKIO, April 14.—By the Associated Press Sunday newspaper extras apprised Tokio of passage by the house in Washington of the Johnson immigration bill. Official and other well informed circles, however, are awaiting the senate's action, which is expected here to be the real test.

The Kokumin, in an editorial headed "Mean Nationalism," expressed belief that the exclusion clause would be defeated in the senate or vetoed by President Coolidge.

"Nevertheless," it continues, "it illustrates a most definite expression of American anti-Japanese feeling and makes the situation grave than ever before. We refuse to believe it is impossible for America to establish an efficient immigration policy without dishonoring the Japanese nation. We hope the United States will consider the situation and study the consequences of mean nationalism which the Johnson bill is likely to impose upon the American people."

TO DISCUSS BROCKTON INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

BROCKTON, April 14.—The Manufacturers' association today named as its committee to treat with the Joint Choe council and discuss the local industrial situation, Charles E. Moore, Percy G. Flint, William A. Doyle, W. A. Hagan and Herbert L. Tinkham.

They will meet with the shoe workers' delegation Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

COAT LININGS

The linings to the newest coats are almost more interesting than the exterior. Sometimes they are a combination of light and dark silk arranged in horizontal stripes, or they may be embroidered or banded in elaborate designs.

TODAY IN WASHINGTON

Senate and House meet.
Senate republicans hold a party conference.
Senate oil and Daugherty committees are in recess.
Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution convenes.
Senate committee investigating alleged land frauds in the Rio Grande valley of Texas, is called to continue its hearing.

GREEK PEOPLE VOTE TO SET UP REPUBLIC

ATHENS, April 14.—The Greek people have voted by a large majority for the establishment of a republican form of government to succeed the Glukburg dynasty. Incomplete returns in yesterday's referendum received from Athens and the Piraeus up to midnight, show a majority of approximately 75 per cent in favor of the change. The provincial returns also indicate a republican majority but the proportion is uncertain.

Complete order has thus far been maintained here. The city was brilliantly illuminated last night and enthusiastic crowds paraded the streets behind military bands.

LONDON, April 14.—A decree will be published today, says an agency despatch from Athens, nominating Admiral Coundouriotis as president pro tem of Greece. The assembly will be divided into a senate and chamber of deputies, and after the Easter vacation will elect a president who, the dispatch says, will probably be M. Zaimis. (Recent advices from Greece mentioned Alexander Zaimis, former premier, as the candidate for president favored by Venizelos.)

To insure domestic stability and peace, discussion of the constitution will be prohibited for five years.

The result of the plebiscite in Thrace was almost unanimously in favor of the republic; in Athens the majority was two-thirds, and in Macedonia it was also large. The Peloponnese returned a royalist majority.

STRIKE OF 7500 MINE WORKERS CALLED

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 14.—A strike of 7500 mine workers involving fourteen anthracite collieries of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., was called today. The walkout grew out of a recent protest against 11 men being sent home when the gateway in which they were working was flooded with silt and water. The mine committee contended that the men should have been put at other work by the company.

FUNERAL OF EX-CONG. EDWARD GILMORE

BROCKTON, April 14.—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, friends and politicians from far and near attended the funeral services of ex-Congressman Edward Gilmore this morning.

It was one of the largest funerals ever conducted in the city. There was not a vacant seat in St. Margaret's church, and the funeral cortege was nearly a mile long. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR BONUS OR TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Whether the bonus or tax bill will have the right of way in the senate will be taken up at a meeting of the finance committee late today. No instructions were given majority members at the conference of senate republicans held this morning.

A report on the bonus bill, agreed to by the committee Saturday probably will be made to the senate tomorrow, Senator Curtis, Kansas, a republican member of the committee and in charge of the bill, said.

U. S. AIR SQUADRON RESTS AT SEWARD

SEWARD, Alaska, April 14.—After cutting a day from its scheduled itinerary by flying direct to Seward from Sitka, without a stop at Cordova, an originally planned, the United States army air squadron making a globe encircling flight is at anchor in the harbor here preparing for the next stage of its journey, a flight to Chignik, Alaska, 450 miles from Seward. The time of departure hinges on weather conditions.

The four planes reached Seward late yesterday, a little more than seven hours after they hopped off from Sitka.

D. A. R. CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON

Appeal for Law Enforcement Made by Mrs. Anthony W. Cook, President-General

Pres. Coolidge and French and British Ambassadors to Speak

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An appeal for law enforcement, particularly with regard to prohibition, and for faith in the government, was made today by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president-general in her message to the 33rd congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The congress assembled in Continental Memorial hall here for a week's session with about 2000 delegates present from practically every state, will hear President Coolidge this evening. The French ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, and the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, also will speak. President Coolidge's address will be broadcast by radio.

Election of the president-general does not take place this year, but eight vice presidents-general will be elected later in the week. Mrs. Cook urged the women of the nation to vote and make themselves responsible for the character of government, federal, state and local. She advocated the fostering of patriotism through education, as one of the needs of the day, and remarked that "at this particular moment in our national life when we are beset with assault upon our trusts in public officials it is well for us to renew our beliefs at the deep wells of old faiths."

"We must see to it," she said, "that we women are active, constructive forces for clear thinking and clean living in communities."

Mrs. Cook told the delegates that immigration would be the most pressing problem before congress when tax legislation was enacted and advocated a restrictive law which would prevent the admission of great numbers of southern Europeans, who, she said, would herd in congested centers and constitute a danger spot in the body politic. She urged an adequate army and an adequate navy as a guaranty of national peace with honor and declared the country required a merchant marine, even if a subsidy should be necessary.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OF G. O. P. CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Selection of a temporary chairman for the republican national convention was discussed with President Coolidge today by Chairman Adams of the republican national committee preparatory to the meeting in Cleveland, April 30th of the committee on convention arrangements.

Chairman Adams said the president had made no definite recommendation. The list of those who have been considered includes former Governor Lowden of Illinois, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Willis of Ohio, and Representative Longworth of Ohio.

HELD IN LONDON ON PROVIDENCE CHARGE

LONDON, April 14.—Ball in 1900 was today granted John Wesley DeKay, held under an indictment returned in Providence, R. I., in 1913, charging him with aiding in misapplication of funds of the Atlantic National bank. Ball was granted by the high court which he appealed after a lower court had ordered him remanded.

DeKay was arrested in Southampton April 10, upon his arrival from Hamburg, with his family.

FEDERAL SUPERVISION OF OUTDOOR RECREATION

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Members of the national policy committee on outdoor life appointed yesterday by President Coolidge, were called to meet today by Secretary Weeks, who will act as chairman of the body.

The other members of the committee are Secretaries Work, Wallace and Hoover, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. They are charged by the president with drafting a national policy co-ordinating under federal guidance all activities in behalf of outdoor recreation and Chairman Weeks today expressed the belief that "something worth while will be accomplished."

ASK FORD TO ATTEND HEARING

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The senate agriculture committee today directed Chairman Norris to request Henry Ford to appear in person or through an authorized agent during the hearings on Muscle Shoals and explain some features of his bid.

The committee also agreed to extend the hearings until April 29 to permit Governor Pinchot to testify.

APPOINTMENT OF FREE STATE MINISTER

DUBLIN, April 14.—The Free State foreign minister, Desmond Fitzgerald, asked to consent to a report from Washington to the effect that the appointment of a Free State minister to the United States should be approved by the British government, said that no British opposition was expected.

NAVAL AIR STATION AT SAND POINT

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The house naval committee today voted in favor of a naval air station at Sand Point, Washington.

WOMAN OFFERS TO HIRE COUNSEL FOR MRS. TELL

NEW YORK, April 14.—A well-to-do New York woman whose name is withheld by the authorities, has offered funds to obtain competent counsel for Mrs. Johanna Tell, who confessed to the police last week that she had murdered Charles Blair at a lonely farmhouse in Killingworth, Conn.

This woman has never met Mrs. Tell and knows nothing about her except what she has read in the newspapers.

Mrs. Tell was brought into Morrisania court this morning and her case was adjourned until April 21 to await the arrival of extradition papers from Connecticut.

She was taken back to the Bronx county jail.

COTTON PRICES SAG

MANY VISITORS ATTEND FORMAL OPENING NEW ELECTRICAL STORE IN MERRIMACK STREET

PIERRE FAVREAU

VENANCE FAVREAU

All roads led merrily to No. 659 Merrimack street, last Saturday, when hundreds of men and women shoppers of the city at large paid congratulatory respects in abundant measure to Messrs. Pierre and Venance Favreau, popular young business men of the progressive stamp, who have just opened a brand new and highly attractive electrical equipment store, and beautiful fixture studio in the heart of Lowell.

It was the formal opening of Lowell's very latest, ultra-modern "House Electrical." And a remarkably successful opening it was, to be sure! Friendly visitors of both sexes called early and late, eager to inspect the shining, new mercantile establishment, floor and basement, now open for business. Sincere well-wishers were also prepared to personally congratulate the two wide-awake members of the outgrowing firm of Favreau, for their marked progressiveness and successful attempt to introduce to Lowell and vicinity an up-to-date electrical merchandise house with a most convenient location in the busy marts of the city trades.

The spic and span new store, now ready for public inspection and patronage, has a splendid layout from the attractive sky-blue street front with the dainty white-striped line decorations, to the main store, which contains a magnificent office. Adjoining, in the immediate rear, is a beautiful studio, equipped as a reception room for customers and inviting admiration for its beautiful red furniture equipment. Its charming lights of all modern selections, and many in exclusive designs not to be found elsewhere outside of Boston or New York.

Beyond the cheerful reception room and entirely separate from the main store, are the commodious stock and repair rooms. A large basement gives ample room for the great stock of electrical fixtures and accessories which the new Pierre and Venance Favreau electrical construction and fixture studio carries.

Rarely in the memory of devotees of the electric arts and trades has an establishment designed to meet every possible need and demand relating to home beautifying and household utilities in the home-maker's intimate field of heating, lighting and cooking, exhibited more enterprise, more careful planning, more intelligence than this new Favreau concern at 659 Merrimack street.

Here are the most modern equipments of every conceivable kind for every particular line of patronage in utilitarian electrical. Finest quality and perfect service at very lowest costs are always to be maintained in the establishment bearing the name of Pierre and Venance Favreau today, tomorrow and always.

It is the aim of this concern to constantly maintain a service that will retain customer patronage and increase that patronage. Certainly, ideals of this character should meet the approbation of all desiring electrical work done, when quality and faithful service are sought.

The new electrical business, inaugurated under the most favorable auspices last Saturday by the Favreau brothers, Pierre and Venance, means the launching of a new business career in the Lowell electrical world that promises to bring prosperity in abundance to the wide-awake young men and devoted brothers. They deserve all that is theirs by right of splendid energy, clean business records and courage.

Saturday visitors at the Pierre and Venance Favreau new electrical store and studio grand opening were both delighted and amazed at the beauty of the interiors. First inspections dwelt the reception room in the immediate rear, is called properly the studio. Here are found most highly attractive electric light fittings of the modern home. A charming set of red furniture of the summer home variety, with colored pearl gray (China) and back coverings, attracts all feminine visitors immediately. It is an enticing room, with a marvelous electrical lamp display overhead and hanging from every point in the ceiling, scores of beautiful electrical lighting devices of every color of the rainbow and new designs not to be found anywhere else in the city.

The stock rooms are filled with up-to-date electrical goods to meet the Favreau house patronage. The work and fixtures department is ideal. The delivery system of the concern, already established, covers Lowell and all outside towns. Free deliveries are made everywhere.

It will be "open house" all this week at the new electrical store at 659 Merrimack street. The excellent, handy location on the spot where the historic W. T. A. Barlett hardware emporium stood and flourished, for so many years, is ideal for the conduct of the Favreau business of the future.

The brothers, Pierre and Venance, have had 12 years' valued experience in electrical fields and are experts in their favorite line. House-wiring is the Favreau firm's specialty. And "House of Favreau" now pushes ahead with every sign of prosperity pointing in the right direction.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

RIALTO THEATRE

Due to the fact that from his brain have come the plots of some of the greatest photoplay successes of the past, the name of Peter B. Kyne has come to be associated with screen entertainment of a very high order. Everybody recalls the famous "Cappy Lukers" stories of which Kyne is the author. For many years an outdoor man, he has lived among the characters of whom he writes so feelingly, and as a result his pictures are invariably interesting and true to life.

"One-Eighth Apache," his newest success, which opens at the Rialto theatre today, is no exception to this statement. From beginning to end the attention is gripped and held by a series of episodes which for dramatic intensity have never been equaled on the screen. And in this particular case the story has been materially aided, not only by wonderful direction but by a fine cast of actors headed by Roy Stewart and Kathleen Kirkham. Stewart is seen in the role of Brant Murdock, son of a wealthy western who is at an eastern school, brought up in eastern surroundings, has a difficult time adjusting himself to the ways of the west, when he arrives home. But the acid test comes when he is thrown on his own resources when his father is murdered.

"South Sea Love" with Shirley Mason is the companion feature, and presents the diminutive star in her first real drama. At first we see Miss Mason as Dolores, the sea woman. Born and raised aboard an ancient schooner, she meets an English aviator, who falls in love with her. When after taking her to his South Sea Island home, the Englishman fails to make good his promise to marry her, and she learns that he has a wife in England, Miss Mason achieves an extraordinary expressiveness in depicting anguish and disappointment. J. Frank Glendon has the leading male role.

A Century comedy and a Fox News complete the bill. Sam Cohen and his funny amateurs will appear at the Rialto Tuesday night as usual.

THE STRAND

"Loving Lies," an adaptation from Peter B. Kyne's semi-sea story, "The Harbor Bar," is scoring a striking success during its run at the Strand for the first part of the week. Kyne has invariably written unusually interesting stories, particularly the kind that, when adapted to the screen, make marked and unqualified successes. "Loving Lies" is just that kind of a story that will awaken in every patron of the better grade of motion pictures

EVERETT TRUE

BRITAIN APPROVES DAWES REPORT

LONDON, April 14. (By the Associated Press).—If the Dawes report is acceptable to the other allied governments, it may be taken for granted that no obstacles are likely to be encountered here on the question of its adoption. This is the nearest to an official expression obtainable regarding the progress the British treasury officials have made in their examination of the reparations experts' recommendations.

British interest in the reparations situation today is centered upon the meeting of the members of the German federal states with the cabinet of the Reich in Berlin. Their decision on the acceptability of the report is expected Wednesday.

A desire to see more screen offerings of that brand, Monte Blue and Evelyn Brent are appearing in the principal roles, and they receive the help of a competent cast. The scene effects and intense action during the progress of the story are most commendable, while the various characterizations are praiseworthy.

"Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing," Gertrude Figue's famous stage success and novel, with Mae Marsh in the starring role, will be the second feature. How does an Irish flapper flap? Miss Marsh will answer this question to your entire satisfaction during the run of this feature. This bright star of Blumfeld is afforded unusual opportunity to again reflect her personal charm as well as her exceptional ability. "Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing" is the story of a young Irish miss. It has an abundance of good, wholesome humor, as well as a delightful love romance. Don't miss one of the treats of the season.

The remainder of the bill has a comedy weekly, as well as musical numbers of merit.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Held to Answer," a Metro screen version of Peter Clark MacFarlane's sensational mystery story, now playing at the Merrimack Square theatre, has created a demand for the book at all the bookstores and public libraries. The story kept Collier's swept off the stands when it ran as a serial in that magazine. It is a thrilling action story of a fighting minister, an actress and the criminal courts. The cast includes such great favorites as House Peters, Grace Carlyle, James Morrison, Evelyn Brent and Gale Henry.

Other attractions for the first part of the week include "Sea Raiders," a thrilling story of the ocean, with an all-star cast; a comedy, "Always Late"; the International News and a new Boston Post reel, "The New England Home."

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Billy Hallen, the singing monologist, will lead the present week's bill at the B. F. Keith theatre. He is one of the best known of the funny men on the vaudeville stage. Eugene Emmett in "The Family Revue" is a singer who is greatly loved and whose numbers of other days will touch all those who love the old-time music. Others who are slated for appearance during the week are Thomas J. Ryan, who is lovingly remembered for his impersonations; Norma Lovland and Marjorie Shannon, singers; Eunice Miller & Co., dancers, and the Tuscano Bros., Roman battle-axe jugglers. The week's picture feature is "Orphan Sally."

HOWEVER COMMA—

NEW YORK, April 14.—Originality is the most sought-for and seldom-found thing in the world. In a book or a play it is a plea in a mode in the dramatic circles' meal, a made heavy with the soup of sex problems and the meat of love tales. Our present literary era is a highly unoriginal one. Authors seem timid to try new things. Well-beaten paths are too easy to follow and at first glance, they offer the surest route to the destination of success.

One symptom of this wave of patriotism is reflected in the number of books about our national capital. "With Congress and Cabinet," by Redfield, "Your Washington and Mine," by Lattimer, and "Forty Years in Washington," by Barry followed each other with lightning rapidity. Others probably will be along shortly.

The most original books are purely imaginative. The chap who can blow smoke-rings and see in the haze his picture of life in 500 years is the chap who is sure not to cross the path of any other writer.

Such a book is "The Ark of the Covenant" (Harpers) by a new writer, Victor MacClure. Super-airplanes, invisible power, transmission of anesthetics hundreds of miles by radio serve to make this book, crude in spots, one of the most entertaining in recent weeks. At least it has the virtue of being original.

We had begun to think originality a lost art. Just today the stenographer in our office said her husband phoned her to attend a lodge meeting in the evening. That's as original as the sick friend joke.

It is characteristic of William McFee's wistful nature that he should, in his new book, carry his reader to the

COUNTESS SELLS LONDON POST

LONDON, April 14.—Control of the Morning Post, owned by the Countess of Bathurst, is to be transferred to a body of influential conservatives, with whom the Duke of Northumberland is associated, it is announced. The countess has for some time been desirous of relinquishing ownership of the paper, owing to the heavy taxation.

TROOPS QUELL MUTINOUS CONVICTS

LISBON, April 14.—A number of convicts undergoing sentences in the Coimbra penitentiary for their part in the assassinations of Premier Granjo and other prominent republicans here in 1921, mutinied yesterday. Led by the notorious Sailor "Gold Tooth" they attacked the wardens and tried to escape. Troops were called and restored order. No casualties are reported.

DANISH CABINET RESIGNS

COPENHAGEN, April 14.—The Danish cabinet of Premier Neergaard, which has held office since 1920, resigned today. The resignation was the result of the defeat of the government party in last week's election, the labor party electing the largest number of members of any party in the Folkething. At the request of King Christian, however, the Neergaard cabinet will continue in office provisionally.

When the book ends they are not married, and the inference is a future book will pick up the thread of the story. He goes to the colonies to make his fortune; she remains to wait and gain fame as a writer.

There are many Hazels in the world, and to her McFee seems to throw the entire weight of his sympathy throughout the book. He won't permit his reader to offer final pity. He compensates her pathetic love affair with a youth who is going thousands of miles away and may never return, by permitting her first novel to be accepted and a rosy road to success open before her. How like Mc-

Fee's wistful nature that he should, in his new book, carry his reader to the edge of the ocean and leave him to stare out over the horizon. The book is called "Race" (Doubleday, Page). If anything, McFee shows greater sympathy and understanding in "Race," than he did in his best known works, "Casualties of the Sea" and "Command." He seems especially close to Hazel and Louis, the youthful lovers.

Incidentally, we wish to thank Mr. McFee for his autographed copy of the specially bound 100 copies in advance of the regular first edition for their friends.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the board of managers of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Friday at the store of Mrs. Rose Jordan Hartford, president of the club. Because of the fact that the next meeting, under the constitution, comes on April 22, the evening of the Lowell Guild ball, it was decided to hold but a brief session on that evening, postponing the regular meeting until April 22. A fine musical and literary program is being arranged for that date and able speakers will address the gathering.

SERVICES AT GREEK HOLY TRINITY CHURCH

Greek Holy Trinity church was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon, many men, women and children being eager to hear Metropolitan Vasilios deliver a most inspiring address at services held to consecrate those who declared the independence of Greece in 1821. The actual date was July 25, by the Julian calendar, or April 7 by the Gregorian. Many members of the local Macedonia and the Lagada societies attended yesterday's services. Splendid antiphonal singing emphasized the program of laudation and devotion. The singer was George Stephan, former opera singer, helped the Greek revolution materially and spiritually and was the champion of individual liberty and the protector of the Greek. He said continued the past in the mother country and the wars with Turkey the oppressive civilization and spirit unknown in Greece until the present time.

THE PRESIDENT'S BLAST

The situation at Washington takes on increased interest and excitement as a result of the sharp message of President Coolidge to the senate, objecting to the proposed methods of investigating the revenue department in which Sen. Mellon is the chief official under fire. It was Senator Connors of Michigan, who had proposed the engagement of Lawyer Henry of California as counsel in the investigation of the revenue department. It is well known that Mr. Henry has won a great reputation for conducting campaigns against political corruptionists; and it is naturally assumed that his course in reference to the proposed investigation would be quite sensational. Secretary Mellon, therefore, appealed to the president and the message from the White House was the result.

The president makes the point that the committee would go outside the limits of the law in its proposed investigation, particularly when it would call for the tax returns of various companies and public officials. He also claims that such information is not sought as a basis for future legislation. That Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, favored the engagement of Henry as counsel, was probably one of the things that moved the president to write a letter snubbing the committee.

The democratic senators charge that the president's letter might be construed as against all the investigations now in progress; but it appears that there is no disposition among the democrats to widen the breach between the senate and the executive department. The president's letter, however, came in the nature of a surprise, inasmuch as he had maintained complete silence for several months even during rather exciting developments. It is but right, however, that he should offer objection, if he sees the investigations taking on an atmosphere of personal antagonism or being used as a means of avenging spite against any public official. There have been occasions that seemed to call more loudly for the president's interference than did anything in the present situation, but yet he maintained silence. The general verdict seems to be, that he should have taken this attitude sooner if he meant to interpose as to what particular lines the investigations should follow.

HOLIDAY OBSERVANCES

The conflicting views in regard to the observance of Patriots day on Saturday, April 19, have brought up a discussion relative to a change in our laws regarding the observance of holidays. So much inconvenience results to business and other interests from the interference of the holiday observances that the suggestion is made that a law be enacted providing that each legal holiday shall be observed on the nearest Monday before or after. This, it is obvious, would prevent great loss and inconvenience to merchants and manufacturers, who have frequently to close up on the most important business days of the week. Patriots day this year may be cited as an example. If we had a rule for observing holidays on Mondays, the people who work in the mills and others who need a rest, could make arrangements for the enjoyment of the occasion, starting either Friday night or Saturday afternoon, and returning to work on Tuesday morning. That would afford them a real rest and everybody would feel the benefit of such a respite.

Changes in our calendar have been going on for ages, dictated chiefly by astronomers and finally by Pope Gregory, who framed the present calendar, which is as nearly correct as the astronomers can make it.

A proposition is put forward, however, to abandon the Gregorian calendar and adopt one having thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, so that every feast and holiday would fall on the same day of the week and the same date of the month each year.

Thirteen months, of four weeks each, would make 364 days. There would be an odd day left out of the reckoning and this would be set apart as New Year for general observance. The additional days of leap year would come in as a slight jar to this thirteen-month arrangement. But if universally adopted, the plan would be a great source of convenience and would be very much preferable in many respects to the present calendar so far as the observance of Easter and some other feasts are concerned. Under such a system, Christmas would always fall upon the same day of the week and so with every other annual holiday and everybody's birthday.

Under such a plan, the arrangement for observing the holidays on Mondays would be equally feasible and convenient. To celebrate our holidays on Mondays would be more convenient for everybody and for all the interests involved, and it would not in the slightest detract from the appreciation of the holidays to be observed. It is a suggestion worthy of consideration by our state lawmakers.

TEACHING THE CONSTITUTION

The National Security League is making a great drive in advocacy of a state law that would make it obligatory on the schools of all the states to offer instruction upon the principles of the constitution, in the classrooms. The object is a good one, although it is presumed that such instruction is given in all the schools, at least in the higher grades. In connection with the teaching of history, wherever history is taught, the constitution and its provisions cannot be overlooked, but the National Security League wants to have the constitution explained in all its various features, such, for example, as the preamble, the framework of the government, the habeas corpus provision, grand jury and trial by jury, freedom of speech and assembly, freedom of religion and of the press, the right of private property, protection against theft and seizure and quartering troops on the people, the declaration of war, the methods of amending the constitution, and the power of the supreme court of the United States as the highest interpreter of the constitution.

There are already so many interferences with school work that it is hard to encourage any addition in this line; but there is certainly none of more importance than special instruction on the constitution, its meaning, its scope, and its peculiar character as the very palladium of our liberties. It is only by systematic instruction by people fully competent to explain the constitution, that the children can be given a proper grasp of the subject and made to appreciate how vastly important the constitution is as the very foundation of our system of government, and a document which has no equal outside the bible.

The National Security League, in order to encourage the study of the constitution, offers $2500 in prizes for ten of the best short stories explaining the contents of the leading provisions of the constitution. That means a prize of $250 for each essay selected and the stories are to contain 750 words each, which would be a dollar a word, for each winning essay.

This contest will doubtless encourage the study of the constitution and serve a patriotic purpose in causing a greater number of people to understand its provisions and the fundamental basis of the liberties we enjoy in this country. Already 25 states have a law such as the N. S. L. advocates but Massachusetts is not among the number.

It is gratifying to find the increased local interest in the constitution as indicated by the course of lectures before the Knights of Columbus which is to be repeated for the students of the high school. This study of the constitution will increase the number of its defenders and the general respect for its provisions.

GUilty OF MANSLAUGHTER

Dr. Ernest G. Meyer, chiropractor, of New York, has been found guilty of manslaughter in having caused the death of a girl by his method of treatment. The girl, aged six years, was suffering from an advanced case of diphtheria and the chiropractor spent four days manipulating her spine "to remove the pressure" thereon. Finally, when a real doctor was called, the case was diagnosed as diphtheria, and antitoxin was administered. But the child died soon after. The verdict against Dr. Meyer is likely to put a stop to any such practice in New York state. The great trouble in such cases is, that special treatment is administered which has no bearing upon the illness of the patient or, that may make it worse instead of better. It is as if an eye specialist were called to treat a case of appendicitis.

The art of the chiropractor may be all right in its proper place, but it takes a physician to decide when such treatment is necessary. The chiropractor himself is not a physician and therefore, not competent to diagnose a case of sickness. In the New York case in which Dr. Meyer treated the child in question, the parents made the mistake in not first calling a physician to diagnose the nature of the child's illness.

WHAT WE EAT

Our generation eats 39 per cent more food and 271 per cent more sugar than our grandparents, claims the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

The claim about increased sugar consumption is indisputable. Sugar has naturally taken the place of its twin-brother, alcohol.

But we doubt that modern people eat about a third more food than their grandparents, some of whom thought nothing of a pound of ham or steak, or four eggs and a pound of flapjacks for breakfast. Statistics may indicate more food is being consumed, but our guess is that the increase goes to the garbage pail. There is a great increase in the consumption of sugar and a corresponding increase in bad teeth, diabetes and some other diseases. Excessive use of sugar is like burning the furniture to keep the house warm. A moderate supply of sugar, however, is an absolute necessity.

MAKE IT PERMANENT

It is now proposed to transfer the duties of the commission upon the necessities of life, to the Department of Labor and Industries, and to make its functions permanent. The idea is apparently a good one, inasmuch as it is well to have some bureau or organization ready to act in the interest of the people whenever such action seems necessary. A permanent bureau as a sub-division of a state department would be preferable to a commission chosen for a special purpose.

Sergeant Was Angry

A sergeant was drilling two very stupid recruits who could not be prevailed upon to keep step. Losing all patience, he shouted: "If I knew which of you two spalpeens was out of step, I'd put him straight in the guard-room."

Old Villager Knew

The villagers were listening to a band, and they seemed to understand every instrument with the exception of the trombone. They decided to fetch the oldest villager, and ask him his opinion about it. The old man stood watching the player for a while, and then exclaimed: "Take no notice of him. There's a trick in it; he hasn't really swallowed it!"

Fair Lillian's Age

"Exactly how old are you, anyway?" a friend once asked Lillian Russell. "I have a friend," replied the actress with apparent irrelevance. "Who was born in mid-ocean on a steamer. After she and her mother had landed, the steamer, on its return trip, blew up. So practically she has no birthplace." Then, after a pause: "My age is like that."

The Horrid Violinist

A noted violinist, a shy and quiet man except when riled or annoyed, was playing at a private house, and an elderly woman, a passionate lover of music, drew closer and closer to him as he continued to play. She was interested in the score and to read it the better she put her head almost against his. The violinist, who had been growing angrier every moment, suddenly ceased playing, and whipping out his handkerchief, wiped the woman's nose with it. She was furious and grew more so when he said: "I beg your pardon, but your nose was so close to my face that I thought it was my own."

The Heffy Pigeon

On the cross-bench under the Old South bell.

The nest of a pigeon is builded well. In summer and winter that bird is there.

Out and in with the morning air; I love to see him track the street. With his wary eye and active feet; And I often watch him as he sings, circling the steeple with easy wings. Till across the dial his shade has passed, And the heffy edge is gained at last; 'Tis a bird I love, with its brooding note.

And the trembling throbs in its swelling throat; There's a human look in its swelling breast;

And the gentle curve of its lowly crest, And I often stop with the fear I feel, He runs so close to the rapid wheel.

Whatever is rung on that noisy bell, Chime of the hour, or funeral knell, The dove in the heffy must hear it well.

When the tongue swings out to the midnight moon, When the sexton cheerily rings for noon,

When the clock strikes clear at morning light, When the child is waked with "nine at night,"

When the chimneys play soft in the Sabbath air, And the spirit with tones of prayer,

Whatever tale in the bell is heard, He broods on his folded feet unstirred, Or, rising half in his rounded nest, He takes the time to smooth his breast, Then drops again, with flinched eyes, And sleeps as the last vibration dies.

Sweet bird! I would that I could be A hermit in the crowd like thee! With wings to fly to wood and glen; Thy lot, like mine, is cast with men;

And daily, with unwilling feet, I tread, like thee, the crowded street; But unlike me, when day is o'er, Thou canst dismiss the world, and soar;

Or, at a half-felt wish for rest, Canst smooth the feathers on thy breast, And drop, forgetful, to thy nest.

I would that, in such wings of gold, I could my weary heart unfold; I would I could look down unmoved (Unloving as I am unmoved), And while the world throngs on beneath, Smooth down my cares and calmly breathe And never sad with others' sadness, Listen, unmindful, to knell or chime, And, lapped in quiet, hush my time.

—NATHANIEL PARKER WELLS.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Chief R. R. Frederick, local navy recruiting officer, is one of the greatest boosters of the service I have ever met. With over 14 years' service in the navy, during which time he has served on many of the big ships and at land stations from San Diego, California, to Lowell, he knows what the navy does for a man and is anxious to get young men from this city who are ambitious to sign up for one enlistment and see for themselves just what Uncle Sam will do for them and at the same time give them comfortable pay for their services. In summing up the advantages of navy life, Chief Frederick says the pay is good and steady during the whole length of service, the food is wholesome and nourishing, there is a variety of work and scene, there are unequalled opportunities for advancement, and, at the end of 16 years an enlisted man may retire at 1-3 of his base pay plus certain additions, which amounts in many cases to $750 a month. Can any other line of work equal this, asks Chief Frederick.

He must make the appointment within a week to receive authorization from

NORTH CHELMSFORD FIRE DISTRICT RALLY

Members of North Chelmsford fire district are to rally on Wednesday evening for important business which will include the hearing of the report of a special committee appointed some time ago to consider the establishing of a system of sewers in the district and to act upon recommendations that may be submitted. A sewage project for the North Chelmsford territory has been discussed for several years but no definite action has ever been taken, except to appoint committees of investigation and report.

Now with the football season at high school about to open, the thoughts of Faculty Manager James E. Conway, Coach Liston and other physical training instructors turn to football. The question of the hour is "Whether to have spring training for the football squad," and this question is being argued daily whenever those interested in school athletics meet. Lowell must this year put a team on the gridiron that will uphold the honor of the school and the consensus of opinion is that to do this, spring training is necessary. Mr. Conway favors the idea and it is believed that Lowell high will issue a call for grid men early in May so that the rudiments of the school's system may be instilled in the candidates' minds before school closes. Then, in fall, Coach Liston will be able to go ahead and get the squad into actual playing practice without any delay.

Ten days after their scheduled appearance upon the city streets, the electric sprinkling cars blossomed forth in all their glory Friday morning and began their summer work of wetting down the smooth paved streets. To the pedestrian, the sprinkling car is welcome, as it buys the dust but to the automobilist it is just another danger added to the many that greet him every time he takes his machine onto the highways. A great many automobilists advocate the shutting of streets during the night time, as practiced in many of the larger cities. In place of the constant wetting of them by the electric sprinkling car, trees and granite-block paving is slippery enough to automobile tires and splunking merely makes them more slippery.

36 CAPTURED IN HUB GAMBLING RAID

BOSTON, April 14.—As a result of a raid made shortly after midnight on a poolroom in the basement of the building at 68 Market street, in the Brighton district, 36 men will be in Brighton court today charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

It was asserted yesterday that the capture of 36 men in the place was the largest capture of its kind that has occurred in this city for some time. All were booked at headquarters, and it is believed that most of the prisoners gave fictitious names and addresses. All were bailed.

Inspector George Patterson and Sergeant Hines of the vice squad at headquarters, assisted by Special Officers Garrett, Higgins and several more members of the squad, staged the raid. When the large number of men were found in the poolroom a call for help was sent to the Brighton police station and several officers from that station were sent to the scene.

It is said that the police have information that the poolroom has been used for some time as the scene of gambling activities with high stakes. It was asserted yesterday that the lowest bet which could be made on a turn of the dice was $5, and that the bets at times ran as high as $200. Thousands of dollars have changed hands at a session, if the information the police have is correct.

When one of the prisoners was booked at headquarters $5000 in bills was found in his possession. Another had $2500 in cash. It was said yesterday that one man who had cleaned up $1000 on the evening's work left the place just before the officers arrived. The officers went to the poolroom with a warrant which had been secured in the Brighton court. The door was locked. It was smashed in, and as the officers jumped inside it is said two shots were fired. Nobody was struck by the bullets, and when the police announced themselves those present lined up and submitted to arrest.

In talking about the firing of the shots later at headquarters the prisoners, while denying that they knew the identity of the shooter, said they believed they were being "bl-jacked" and were to be held up by a gang.

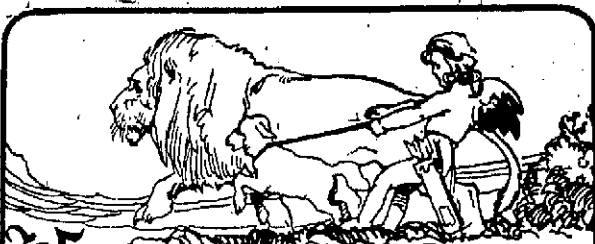

Seven dice, a pack of playing cards and several Kelly pool pills were seized by the police.

The AUTO-CRAT

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

Said the radish to the turnip, "What a bully place I've got; when they planted seed to grow me, they picked out a classy spot." Then the turnip, slightly jealous, perked its leaves and looked around, and it answered, "What's the matter with my little spot of ground?" While the argument was passing, Mister Pumpkin snickered loud. "I've got heaps of room," he shouted, "while you're always forced to crowd. I can spread my vines at random, I am never put to rout, while they plant you two so closely that they have to weed you out." Then Miss Lettuce waved a leaflet and Miss Pea Pod joined the fray, and the parsley and tomatoes also had to have their say. When the warring golden bantam said, "I cannot kick a bit 'bout my dirt," they thought him kidding, 'cause he grew away from it.

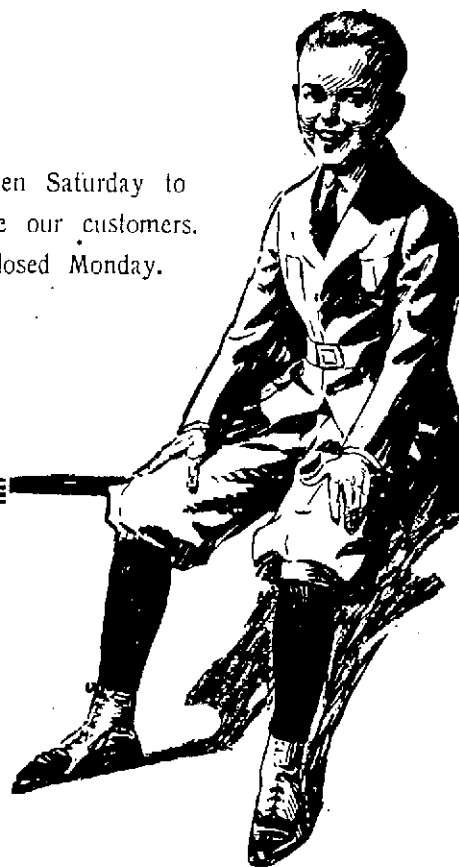

Long and loud the chatter followed as to whom was treated best, each one claiming he was favored and stood better than the rest. Then a lowly little party spoke aloud with grinning face: "I'm the favorite, though I weed, 'cause I grow all around the place."

JACK-IN-THE-BOX IS A HERO!

JACK-IN-THE-BOX JUMPED OUT AT HIM

"The peanut boy came rushing by and hid behind Nancy. 'Oh, save me! Save me!' he cried. 'The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant is after me. I can hear him coming.'"

"When he reached the twins he stopped. 'Did you see a peanut around here anywhere?' he asked. 'I mean, a peanut boy?'"

"What do you want to know for?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, I like him, that's why," declared the elephant. "I want to talk to him." "No, you don't," said Nick. "You want to eat him and you're not allowed to. Everybody in Doofunny Land is supposed to be safe."

The elephant laughed. "As though a peanut needed to be safe! Just because he has a face painted on him he calls himself a person. That's a fine joke, that is."

"Everybody in Doofunny Land is a person, no matter what he is," said Nancy. "You're just trying to make up an excuse for being so greedy."

Suddenly the elephant lifted his trunk up and snuffed loudly. "Aha!" he cried. "I thought so!"

And with that he reached over Nancy's shoulder with his trunk and was just about to grab the peanut boy, when seeing that his hiding place was discovered, the poor fellow ran away as fast as he could go.

And after him went the elephant. Nick caught hold of the elephant's tail, but it was only a little piece of string and came off.

"My goodness!" remarked the Jumping Jack to the Jack-in-the-Box. "I'm afraid that is the end of our friend and he has had so much trouble since he came to Doofunny Land, too!"

"Would you like me to save him?" croaked Jack-in-the-Box.

"Who? You? Why, you can't even walk, my good friend. How could you save anybody?"

"I'll show you. Just shove my head down and put down my lid and set me out in the middle of the road there and fix the fastener so I can open it with a little push."

"Oh, save me! Save me!" cried the peanut boy, rushing behind the funny square box. "The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant was at his very heels."

"I know where you are!" shouted the elephant, waving his trunk. "You're behind that funny box."

And he was reaching around with his trunk when, "Sk-r-r-r-r!"

Jack-in-the-Box jumped out at him, wagging his shaggy head like a lion.

And away went the elephant like a game, he was so scared he never stopped even when he reached the circus tent.

You may imagine what a hero Jack-in-the-Box was after that.

KEEP YOUR CHEST UP!

"Pretty chesty," said Mr. Mann of Anytown, quite admiringly, as he eyed his junior clerk.

The clerk, stripped off his coat and displaying a gaily striped silk shirt, displayed also what appeared to be a perfect 46 chest.

But you never can tell.

Many a man with a good looking chest can't expand it more than half an inch to save his neck. With a 45 chest the clerk should be able to show a 49 under expansion.

The average person should have a chest expansion equal to 10 per cent of its minimum girth.

Any person can easily figure it out. Just take a tape measure, contract the chest and put the tape just below the breast. If, for instance, the measurement is 35, the measure should show 41 when expanded.

If it doesn't, begin chest development exercises. Take such exercises, anyhow.

Any of half a hundred breathing exercises are good. And breathing exercises should be taken for the good of the abdomen and diaphragm and circulation generally.

Don't let it get like the old chest in the garret, dirt clogged and in decay. Keep your chest up!

FIREMEN RESPOND TO TELEPHONE ALARMS

A blazing tree stump in a vacant lot near 110 Lincoln street was responsible for a telephone alarm at 11:10 o'clock last night. A hand chemical was sufficient to extinguish the fire.

Yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock fire apparatus was summoned by telephone to Rogers street where a grass fire was in progress. Hand chemicals and brooms quickly conquered this blaze and there was no damage to property.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SERVICES

At the devotional services conducted in First Congregational church last evening, the pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas took for his sermon topic, "Pilate." In connection with the evening services, a beautiful dramatization of the painting "Christ Before Pilate" was given.

The following members took part in the presentation: Earle Costello, Frank Dobson, Walter Muzzey, Geo. H. Upton, J. Edward Gibson, Edward E. Stanley, Paul M. Mertrude, Clarence E. Towe, D. C. Donaldson, W. E. Hatch, E. B. Cornell and Mrs. I. Burn.

Cocoon Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Multisided cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Slightly moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three tea-spoons will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

otte Swett and her little daughter. The dramatization was given under the immediate direction of Mrs. George H. Upton.

Before the start of the regular evening service, the audience that filled every seat in the church, deeply enjoyed a fine organ recital, given by Mr. Wilfred Kershaw, new organist of First Congregational. The organist offered most impressively Handel's "Largo" and the "Marche Religieuse" by Handel-Gullmunt. The song service followed.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE DEFEATS TEXTILE IN LISTLESS GAME

Charlie Reynolds Holds Locals to Five Scattered Hits and Visitors Last 6 to 3 Victory—Tommy Joy Stars at Bat for Home Team—Collected Three Hits

Lowell Textile lost its second home game of the season on the textile campus last Saturday afternoon when Providence college won a listless game by a score of 6 to 3.

The Providence boys entered the scoring column in the opening inning and maintained their advantage throughout the nine full innings of play. Charlie Reynolds was on the mound for the visitors and while he was not in his best form, he pitched a better game than Ray Farwell. Textile's pitchers, ace, The Red and Gray warriors, managed but five hits off the opposing moundman while Providence, led by Reynolds and Tommy Joy for a half-dozen bingles.

Coch Gandy's men did not display the form they did against Boston University in the season's opener last week. Saturday was a better day for baseball. However, the followers of the local nine need not be discouraged at Saturday's performance. In the present squad, Textile appears to have a better team than she has had for some years. With a little warmer weather and the competition that is scheduled to come this week, the boys should round into form and make the best of their fight hard to win.

Tommy Joy, Textile's lanky outfielder and pitcher, had a big day with the willow. He hammered out a single, a double and a triple during his sojourn at the plate and was instrumental in scoring one of Textile's runs. His triple was a leaser.

Other heavy hitters on the local team were Ray Reynolds, flashy Lowell boy, who gave the fans a chance to yell in the first trip to the platter by pulling out a long two-sacker to the center field fence. While credited with one palpable misstep at shortstop, Ray, in the next move, showed his speed in his attempt to his mates with his speed in the field. Providence got going in the first inning when Mettee reached first after Reynolds' failure to hold his hard hit grounder. Ford went out at first on an attempted sacrifice, and Mitchell threw Ford out at first. Then the fun started when Providence man for the visitors, crawled the arm to deep center for a double, scoring Mettee.

Textile came right back strong in her half of the game, but Providence had been called on him, Reynolds connected with a fast one and

BOYLE IS DETERMINED

Altitude Recalls Days of Furious Bouts With South Boston Johnny Downes

It has been many months since Phinney Boyle, who is training for his bout with Willie Gradwell here on next Saturday night, has been in such a determined frame of mind. His determination recalls those days of the never-to-be-forgotten Boyle-Downes battles. Boyle trained for the Downes fights as if his very life depended upon the outcome. The pair were bitter rivals and their engagements always attracted record crowds to the ringside. For these and other reasons, Boyle and Downes were regarded as the most interesting and exciting fights in the history of local fairs.

Fighting after the bell, back-handed blows, elbows, "heels"—in fact, everything but kicking, biting and throwing the water bucket featured those furious encounters. And each successive battle proved more interesting than the last. One night the going became so rough and furious that a fan jumped into the ring to take a shot at Downes.

All this bitter rivalry came as the result of what one considered an unfair decision. Hence, Boyle still fully convinced that Gradwell not a present in their last encounter, is again training as in those memorable days. He is preparing for a virile and strenuous night, with teeth set for one of those old-time battles. While he has written to the boxing commission calling for a new set of officials in the coming battle, he's not going to take any chances and declares that the only official really needed will be a referee that can count ten.

Discussing the bout, Phinney says: "I'm not offering any alibi and hollering for nothing. Even men who had money on Gradwell came to me after the bout and said I got a 'raw deal.' My manager has sent a letter to the boxing commission calling for different officials for the last Saturday night. I want a man in there who can count ten, for I'm determined to knock out Gradwell and thereby eliminate any chance of a repetition of what happened before."

NEW PARISH HOUSE OF THE ELIOT UNION CHURCH

The new parish house of the Eliot Union Congregational church was formally dedicated yesterday afternoon at services held at 6 o'clock, led by the pastor, Rev. William B. Tutthill, D.D. The new building will fill a long-felt need in the activities of the church. It is complete in every detail and will be the community center of the parish, particularly for younger people, who enthusiastically awaited its completion. The house is adjacent to the church property in Favor street. It is of brick construction and has all the accommodations required in such buildings. The services of dedication were attended by several hundred of the church members and attendants. In addition to a sermon by Rev. Mr. Tutthill there were addresses by Louis A. Olney, chairman of the board of trustees; Edwin E. Shaw, superintendent of the church school, and Rev. John M. Reis, pastor of the Portuguese congregation, which will share in the use of the new building for its community activities. The church quartet, consisting of Mrs. Mary Jaques Perkins, soprano; Miss Mary Wetherall, contralto; Wesley

Boydton, tenor, and Willard Parkinson, bass, sang Dudley Buck's "Dedication Anthem" and Mrs. Perkins sang as soloist Reddick's "How Down Thine Bar." Rev. Mr. Tutthill's address was upon the topic, "The Parish House Ideal" and in part he spoke as follows: "Parish houses are built in increasing numbers. The day is past when the live church is content to open its doors on Sunday and to keep them locked the other six days of the week. As Jesus' ministry was manifold, touching life at every point, so the institution must carry on a manifold ministry today. The parish house ideal is not new. There is abundant warrant for it in such Scripture as this: 'And whatsoever ye do in word or deed do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him.' 'A religion that is not an everyday religion has no power to save the world. 'First: Everyday tasks need religion. They must necessarily become tedious and drudgery unless performed with religious motive and purpose. When in thought and purpose a man links up his day's work with the common good of his fellows he is saved from losing his soul and his work is saved from being half done.

"The so-called recreations, amusements and pleasures of life invariably become cheap, tawdry, extreme and positively profane without religious standards and religious idealism to regulate and purify them.

"Second: As every life needs religion so it is equally true that religion need to be exercised in the everyday life. Many a church has died because it has lost contact with the life of the community. To keep vital, potent, and interesting it must be set to work on

BODY OF HUGO STINNES
CREMATED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, April 14. (By the Associated Press.)—Coal miners from the Ruhr today carried the body of Hugo Stinnes, late German industrial leader, from his villa in Gruenewald to the crematory to the accompaniment of melodies played by their own band, while a miners' chorus alternately chanted dirges and sang Westphalian folksongs. Two of the numbers played were the wedding march from Lohengrin and the Rhineland song, both of which were favorites with Herr Stinnes.

ACCIDENT BOARD
CASE REVIEWED

The case of George Dery is in process of review today before the industrial accident board at city hall. Dery was believed to have been received while at work at the filtration plant in 1923, and the compensation has been stopped on the ground that the disability no longer warrants payments. Four doctors, one of them for the state board, are listed as witnesses to be called by the board in connection with the case.

WENT DOWN WITH THE LADDER

David Ramsey, 4141 Gorham street, an employee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, took a tumble shortly before noon today when the ladder he was working on was blown down, throwing him to the ground. He was taken to St. John's hospital in the ambulance and will be sent home this afternoon.

the tasks of the world. It must be harnessed to the heavy loads of life.

"How is this ideal to be realized? Let no one think that everyday religion means that there is no further need of holy days and holy places. Quite the opposite is true. If all our so-called secular concerns and pleasures are to be diffused with religion we must have more regard for the holy day and the holy place. If we propose to lengthen our ropes we must strengthen our stakes. For the manifold ministry to which the parish house ideal calls us we must develop the finest Christian intelligence and consecration of the most genuine type."

WRIGHT KILLS HIMSELF
Tied Three Sticks of Dynamite to His Feet and Dis-

HOPATCONG, N. J., April 14.—David Wright, raw material storekeeper at the plant of the Atlas Powder Co. here, committed suicide by tying three sticks of dynamite to his belt and discharging them with an electric bat-

The broken ends of the electric wires attached to three sticks of dynamite hung on his belt, were found dangling from his clothing. On the floor of the storeroom stood the battery box, with its wires broken and pointing towards the door through which Wright was blown.

TOUR OF SURVEY OF LOWELL PARKS

COOLIDGE AND MELLON CONFER

Administration Preparing to Renew Counter Offensive
Against Fight on Mellon

President Holds Lengthy Conferences With Sec. Mellon
and Sen. Watson

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The administration is preparing to renew with increased vigor its counter-offensive against the fight on Secretary Mellon in the senate.

President Coolidge conferred at length today with Mr. Mellon and with Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the special committee which is investigating the internal revenue bureau. It was indicated Senator Watson would make another speech in the senate, probably tomorrow, setting forth in greater detail the argument for discontinuance of the inquiry.

Other members on the republican side are expected to join in the counter attack in support of President Coolidge's charge that the revenue bureau committee has not kept within its proper rights and his warning that the time has come for the senate to "return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land." Whether Secretary Mellon will take any further direct part in the argument remains to be developed.

In renewing his request for action on his resolution to end the revenue bureau investigation, Senator Watson will reply to the statement issued last night by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who suggested employment by the committee of Francis J. Heney. Mr. Watson takes the position that nothing is to be gained by the inquiry proposed by Governor Pinchot into prohibition enforcement under Secretary Mellon.

A general question of the strategy to be employed in the next phase of the battle was discussed at today's conference between the president, Secretary Mellon and Senator Watson. Afterward, Senator Watson said no definite conclusions were reached. He intended to the capital to reach the views of the president in the conference of republican senators which met prior to the convening of the senate.

Should an agreement be reached by the republicans to proceed with the immigration bill, Senator Watson indicated he would make no move to bring up his resolution today.

ST. PATRICK'S RECTORY

Many Visitors See and Admire
New and Well Appointed
Building

An all-day procession of visitors took occasion to inspect the new St. Patrick's church rectory yesterday, and expressed gratification at the simple but home-like atmosphere of the new building. The clergy were assisted in caring for the visitors by William B. Collier, of Boston, the architect who designed the building.

The various appointments of the structure were explained and while there was general appreciation of the lay-out as a whole, the dining room, kitchen and recreation room came in for special mention. The dining room, as was stated in architect's description of the building, is reminiscent of the refectories of the monasteries of Italy, especially those in and around Florence. It is treated with stone walls, the floor and beamed ceiling. The windows of this room, and also the doors in the built-in china cabinets, are of leaded glass.

The recreation room on the third floor is designed as a ship's hold, with curved oak walls, horizontal joints, oak deck beams on the ceiling, side rails and knee braces. The lighting fixtures of the above room were designed from antique examples of nautical lanterns. The future furnishings of this room will be nautical in feeling and will embrace such features as a binocular, chart desk, life preservers, ship's models, cutlasses, muskets, etc. The floor of this room will be cloth carpet. All the work in this room is finished in silver gray and the ceiling, which represents the deck beams, is stained a jade green. Jade green hangings will be used around the windows.

Upon viewing these rooms in their emptiness, one can realize how satisfactory to the eye they will be when furnished.

The kitchen has all that modern convenience can supply in the line of equipment and the room in itself is all that can be desired.

The ranges in the kitchen are of the so-called French type, universally used in hotels and restaurants. These are erected upon a brick hearth and are covered by a steel hood connected to a vent in the chimney. Refrigerators are of the automatic type and are installed as follows: The main refrigerator in the passage just off the kitchen, to take care of all perishable material delivered; a smaller unit in the serving pantry and another smaller unit in a closet just off the recreation room on the third floor.

On the second floor of the second floor of the main portion, a door is provided which gives access to the roof over the service portion and this is treated as a sort of roof garden with a pergola above. This will later be screened with bamboo screens, vines growing about it and a small fountain in the center will add to the beauty of this charming resting place.

As the household effects have not been installed as yet and as there remains some finishing work to be done, it is not known definitely just when the priests of the parish, Rev. Dr. McGarry, Rev. James A. Supple, D. D., Rev. Joseph A. Carlin and Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, will formally take up their abode in the new residence.

LAWYER ENO SPEAKS

Delivers Able Lecture on Constitution Before League
of Catholic Women

The civics lecture course under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women was brought to a close in Liberty hall yesterday afternoon when Arthur J. Eno of this city, delivered an able address on "Our Constitution and Its Meaning." Miss Eva Blanchard had general supervision of the meeting.

It was announced by Dr. Emma V. Slaughter, league president, that a concert and dance will be held in Liberty hall on May 6. This will be in charge of Mrs. Elia Reilly Toye.

Previous to the introduction of the speaker, musical selections were given by Mrs. Henry Archambault and Miss Lucille Roussel.

In beginning his address, Mr. Eno took occasion to point out the fact that the League of Catholic Women is living up to the great tasks and duties of the woman suffrage movement, by helping its members to become good citizens and teaching them to vote intelligently and earnestly. It has been said that the war has broken up old tendencies and powerful methods. The people of America forgot that they live in a country of peace and order. They have learned the lesson taught by soviet-ruled Russia, Mr. Eno declared. There can be no peace in anarchy and socialism. The constitution of the United States has founded a standard by which our nation, our great nation, has thrived and become the richest and most powerful country in the world. But it has taken much time and thought to produce the constitution by which we are governed.

The constitution of the United States grew out of the limited power by which the colonies, after they had won their independence from England, allowed their continental congress to decide the important questions of the United States. Each colony had a separate type of government—there was no strong central government. (The record of European countries were watched for the lack of union, Mr. Eno continued, and were waiting their chance to annex this new little independent country to their domains. This state of affairs was serious, but a remedy was soon found which eliminated all fear of disaster in this newly-born republic—the articles of the confederation. These resulted in a strong central government.

After a convention at Annapolis, a constitutional convention was called at Philadelphia. All the states responded except Rhode Island. George Washington was elected president and James Madison, secretary. Three important questions were to be solved by this convention: First, the house of representatives was to be chosen on the basis of population; second, the question of commerce, Washington's eagerness and Franklin's will added to the liveliness of this convention. The articles of the constitution were drawn up and signed by 39 members of the convention. Each state adopted this constitution. The constitution was made up of a preamble and seven articles. The preamble introduces the power and reasons for the constitution. The constitution created three departments—legislative, executive, which had the power to make laws; and judicial, which had the right to judge the laws.

The speaker then described in detail the rules governing and election of members of congress and outlined the duties and powers of the president, the president, the supreme court and other governmental agencies. Concluding, the speaker said:

"This constitution has taught us to be loyal citizens, to believe and to inform ourselves of the history of our inviolable nation; to cast our ballots intelligently and to teach our fellow citizens to do so also; to use our influence to see that the courts give support and protection; to believe that our government is the best created; to be minute-men to the constitution—always ready to do our part in preserving the constitution for which our forefathers gave their blood. Patriotism must be a part of our religion."

MANY CONFERENCES BUT NO AGREEMENT

The working agreement between the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company and the various locals of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees, expires at midnight April 30 and, from present indications, no new agreement will be ready to take its place.

Conferences between the joint conference board of the union and trustees of the road are being held several times a week but, according to Pres. Thomas J. Powers of the local union, both sides are merely marking time. The wage question and several matters concerning working conditions are now under discussion with the trustees taking one stand and union delegates the opposite.

No definite information concerning the wage scale requested by the union has been made public but it is generally believed that a substantial increase has been requested. The situation of the trustees is also unknown, but it is believed they take the same stand as last year—that the financial condition of the road does not permit any further increases in pay at this time.

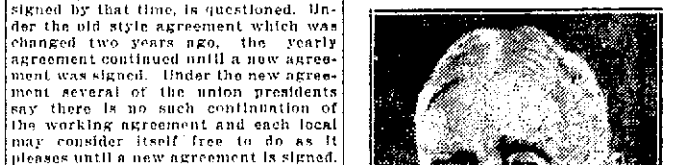

In the past, the wage question has been settled by an arbitration board consisting of one member named by the trustees, one by the union, and a third by the two first named members. Neither side is anxious to arbitrate this question, but it is believed arbitration will be the only solution of the difficulty.

The status of the unions after midnight, Apr. 30, if a new agreement is not signed by that time, is questioned. Under the old strike agreement which was changed two years ago, the yearly agreement continued until a new agreement was signed. Under the new agreement several of the union presidents say there is no such continuation of the working agreement and each local may consider itself free to do as it pleases until a new agreement is signed.

LOWELL VETERAN ELK TO BE GUEST OF HONOR

As an honor to Dr. William H. Downs, senior past exalted ruler of Lowell Lodge, No. 87, B.P.O. Elks, who headed the local lodge in 1920-21, he has been suggested to the grand lodge convention committee that special attention be paid to him at the annual convention to be held in Boston this summer.

Providence lodge has entered Herbert M. Shova of the Rhode Island metropolis as a contender for the doclor's honors as senior exalted ruler among New England Elks. Mr. Shova served Providence lodge at the same time Dr. Downs served in Lowell. It has been suggested through the Eastern Elk, a publication devoted to the news and interests of the order, that the two be made special guests of the convention committee.

Dr. Downs who is today as chipper as the day is joined the Elks was not at all abashed when he learned Providence could boast of an old-timer that ties his record. "I can beat him at billiards, bowling or checkers" was the old-timer's reply.

At the installation of officers in Association hall last week Dr. Downs served as acting grand trustee on the official suite of the installing officer. He was presented by P.E.R. Richard T. Robinson with a handsome bouquet of flowers. The old-timer took his own in hand and wrote a neat verse of acceptance which follows:

"It's able to have this fine banquet while I'm alive and laughing and not to wait 'til I'm dead, day, To have it on my coffin."
